Dying Girl To Be Donor

Paul McCraw Scheduled For Transplant Of Kidney

CHRISTMAS BELLS WILL SIGNAL a chance for continuing life for little Paul McCraw, shown in bed at Children's Hospital at Pittsburgh as he and two brothers and a sister-in-law look at some of the holiday cards sent to The Review with donations to aid his family. The cards were delivered by a sister-in-law, Mrs. Linda Harris of Aliquippa, and two serviceman brothers, Dan Harris and Ernest Harris.

The best gift of all, the gift of continued life, has been promised to little Paul McCraw.

Doctors at Children's Hospital in Pittsburgh told the family Paul will receive a new kidney within hours, probably today and not later than Christmas Day.

It means life will continue for awhile, possibly for as long as five years, for the 36-pound East End youngster who entered the hospital Dec. 3 for treatment of a rare disease that has all but destroyed his kidneys.

Paul, son of Mr. and Mrs. James McCraw of 465½ Mulberry St., had been third on the list at the hospital for the transplant surgery. But now he is slated to receive a kidney from a small girl who is near death.

PAUL WAS moved to the head of the list because his body has the best chance of accepting the kidney. He and the dying girl both have the same rare blood type, which means that Paul's body has the best SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The daring explorers of Apollo 8 swept into an incredible Christmas Eve orbit around the moon today, reported it looked like dirty sand and televised to earth startling pictures of a wild and wondrous terrain.

Air Force Col. Frank Borman, Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. and Air Force Maj. William A. Anders joined the ranks of history's premier explorers at 4:59 a.m. EST today when they fired Apollo 8 into a perfect lunar orbit.

They gazed in astonishment at a sight never before seen by man—the backside of the moon that constantly hides itself from earth.

It was akin to Columbus sighting the New World, Balboa staring down at the Pacific or De Gama rounding the Cape of Good Hope. It was Jules Verne, Buck Rogers and Flash Gordon all wrapped up in a neat Christmas package for the adventure-lovers of the world.

The astronauts then zipped around to the front side to beam to earth dramatic pictures, accompanied by a vivid word description.

As the three astronauts look back across 231,000 miles to their home planet this Christmas Eve, they are expected to beam a message to earthlings, calling for peace and unity in a troubled world.

The plea could come in a television show planned to start from the streaking Apollo 8 cabin at 9:31 p.m.

That would be about 3½ hours before the astronauts are to fire their spaceship engine to shoot out of lunar orbit and head for home, aiming for a Friday morning landing in the Pacific Ocean.

The engine fired them into an initial orbit ranging from 69 to 193 miles high. A second firing during the third lunar orbit circularized the path at about 70 miles above the surface.

About the same time, Apollo 8 swept past the halfway point of the planned mission of six days and three hours.

"It looks like plaster of paris, or sort of grayish beach sand," was Lovell's first impression of this alien celestial body that has awed man since his beginning.

Two and one-half hours later, the astronauts flashed the scene to home television sets with the same camera that Monday had relayed pictures of the earth from 200,000 miles away.

The bright reflection of the sun dulled some of the features, but viewers could not help but be caught up in the excitement of seeing pictures beamed live by three adventurers 230,000 miles from their home planet.

Earthlings were treated to a bleak, barren landscape of crater-pocked plains, boulder-strewn plateaus and rugged mountains.

It looked like a most inhospitable place, a scene of desolation more complete than any Sahara. As Anders handled the camera for the 12-minute telecast from an altitude of about 150 miles, he described the surface as "whitish-gray, like dirty beach sand with lots of footprints in it."

Naming unnamed craters after astronauts, including themselves, Anders turned lunar tour guide with such description as:

Christmas Cease-Fire Due In Viet

Allied Truce Will Run 24 Hours And Viet Cong's For 72

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. and South Vietnamese forces joined the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese in a Christmas cease-fire tonight after an all-day battle Monday in which the South Vietnamese claimed their troops killed 159 of the enemy.

The allied truce was to run for 24 hours, until 6 p.m. Christmas. The Viet Cong had proclaimed a 72-hour truce beginning at 1 a.m. today, but military spokesmen reported during the first six hours the enemy made seven mortar and ground attacks on South Vietnamese military posts, killing six soldiers and one civilian and wounding 16 soldiers and five civilians. The government said six enemy soldiers were killed.

Despite these attacks, the U.S. Command said at noon that it had no reports of any significant action. But the command announced that the number of "indications" of enemy military activity in the Demilitarized Zone since President Johnson ordered the bombing of North Vietnam halted on Nov. 1 had passed the 1,000 mark.

Chief Events For Apollo 8 Flight Today

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Here are the major events scheduled today for the flight of Apollo 8 (all times Eastern Standard):

4:59 a.m.—Main spacecraft engine fired to inject spacecraft into initial egg-shaped lunar orbit ranging from about 70 to 200 miles above moon's surface. Crew photographs lunar terrain below.

7:30 a.m.—Live television transmission, expected to last 15 minutes showing moon out Apollo 8's window.

8:10 a.m.—Another burst of spacecraft engine changes orbit to circular path about 70 miles high. Navy Capt. James A. Lovell begins series of navigation experiments using lunar landmarks as reference points.

11 a.m.—While Air Force Col. Frank Borman points Apollo 8's nose toward the lunar ground, Air Force Maj. William Anders begins taking "stereo" pictures of moon—clicking shutter every 20 seconds to get a continuous "strip" picture of landscape in sunlight.

5:50 p.m.—Apollo 8 passes over one of five sites chosen for future Apollo astronauts to land on moon. Lovell sees how well he can navigate to the spot.

9:31 p.m.—Second live television broadcast from lunar orbit.

1:10 a.m. (Christmas Day)—vital re-start of main spacecraft engine to propel Apollo 8 out of lunar orbit and back toward earth.

Snowy Highways Keep Crews Busy; New Flurries Seen

Santa was shouting "Ho, ho, ho!" and area motorists were moaning "No, no, no!" as today's snow and the promise of more Wednesday made a White Christmas a certainty.

Ash crews were out as district roads were made hazardous by snow and ice and travelers' warnings were issued.

Today's racing card was canceled at Waterford Park as a result of conditions.

Today will be cloudy, windy and cold with snow flurries and occasional squalls. New accumulations of 1 to 3 inches are expected on top of the several inches that fell earlier yesterday and last night.

The cold and occasional snow are due to continue through Wednesday and Thursday.

Astronauts Picture Moon 'Like Plaster Of Paris'

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The moon—enchanter of lovers, controller of earth's tides and the object of awe since man was primitive—looks "like plaster of paris or sort of grayish beach sand," according to the first man to go there. If the word picture was bleak—the televised picture early today was even bleaker.

As Apollo 8 came from behind the moon to begin its second orbit, its television cameras showed an inhospitable terrain with the look of mottled marble.

"We're passing over crater Borman right now," joked astronaut Bill Anders, the lunar tour guide at one point. "Lovell's right next to it and there's Anders right next to it."

Air Force Col. Frank Borman is the spaceship commander and Navy Capt. James A. Lovell is the third crewman.

The craters, old and new that punctuate the moon's crust like teenager's acne, showed clearly as the terrain spun to the right in the viewer's gaze.

"The color of the moon looks a very whitish-gray, like dirty beach sand with lots of footprints in it," said Anders, an Air Force major.

"Don't those two craters look like a pickax striking concrete leaving a lot of fine space dust," Lovell chimed in. This brought laughter from the other two crewmen.

The telecast lasted 12 minutes. Another is scheduled for 9:31 p. m. EST Christmas Eve, when the ship is on its eighth lunar orbit.

Ground controllers commented several times that the level of illumination was too high to really make out fine definition.

Christmas Eve Will Find GIs, Astronauts Far Away

By The Associated Press

Christmas Eve today meant being away from home for GIs in Vietnam and around the world, for the crew of Apollo 8, for Christian pilgrims in the Holy Land and for Pope Paul VI.

It was another story for the 82 surviving crewmen of the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo, homeward bound after 11 months in North Korean captivity. Most of them were looking forward to a joyful reunion with their families in San Diego, Calif., tonight.

The 540,000 American servicemen in Vietnam were observing an uneasy truce in the fighting. Thousands listened to the Christmas messages of evangelist Billy Graham, Roman Catholic Archbishop Terence J. Cooke of New York, and their own chaplains. Thousands more roared with comedian Bob Hope and whistled at the beauties accompanying him on his annual Christmas visit to the fighting men.

In the Middle East, Israeli warplanes struck again at Arab guerrillas inside Jordan as thousands of pilgrims defied Arab threats and converged on the Holy Land. More than 2,000 Arabs were among the travelers who came to celebrate Christ-

Joyful Reunion With Families

Pueblo Crewmen Winging To U.S.

SEOUL (AP) — The 82 freed crewmen of the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo winged their way toward San Diego today for a joyful Christmas reunion with their families.

Two Air Force C141s took off with the men and a coffin after a memorial service at Seoul's Kimpo airport for Fireman Duane H. Hodges, 22, of Creswell, Ore., fatally injured when the North Koreans captured the Pueblo Jan. 23.

The planes were scheduled to arrive at San Diego's Miramar Naval Air Station at 5 p.m. EST after a refueling stop at Midway Island.

The Navy said at least 167 wives, children, mothers, fathers, brothers and sisters have gathered at the base. Many left their homes for San Diego in such a hurry they didn't have time to buy Christmas presents for the men.

A U.S. Army band played "California Here I Come" and "Anchors Aweigh" as the men boarded the planes. Clad in blue Navy fatigues, they appeared rested and smiled and waved at a crowd of 200 persons seeing them off.

The Pueblo skipper, Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher, 41, was the last to board, stopping on the way to thank the band members.

Councilmen Postpone Vote On Auto License

Unable to muster a quorum, City Council postponed a special session set Monday night at which it was to vote on an ordinance levying a $5 - a - year municipal auto tax to provide an estimated $45,000 a year for street programs.

The meeting was called off yesterday afternoon when it became apparent Council could not muster the minimum of four members needed to transact business. The special meeting may be held Friday night, although no new date has been set. Council expects to enact the tax legislation before Jan. 1.

The measure would go into effect with the new year, but motorists apparently would not be required to pay the $5 until they go to a local registrar's office in March to buy new Ohio auto tags.

Blackout Hits In Wellsville, Other Areas

High winds plus the overload of Christmas lights were blamed for a power failure Monday night in Wellsville and the Calcutta and Glenmoor areas.

Raymond E. Barrett, area foreman of the Ohio Power Co., said the overload caused the failure at the 3rd St. substation in Wellsville and the substation in Calcutta.

Affected were about 1,700 customers in the Wellsville and Campground Rd. area and another 200 in Glenmoor along Routes 30 and 267 and Calcutta.

The failure began at 5:26 p.m. Power was restored to some 700 Wellsville residents at 6:25 p.m. and to another 1,000 customers by 7:09.

In the Campground Rd. area, power was out as late as 12:30 a.m. but the situation was cleared up and full power restored to all areas by 1 a.m., Barrett said.

Some 1,100 television cable customers of CATV of Ohio Valley, Inc., were without their favorite programs even after some parts of Wellsville had power restored, because the power supplies of the system in the city were affected due to the outage, John Hales, manager, reported.

Joyful Reunion With Families

Pueblo Crewmen Winging To U.S.

SEOUL (AP) — The 82 freed crewmen of the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo winged their way toward San Diego today for a joyful Christmas reunion with their families.

Two Air Force C141s took off with the men and a coffin after a memorial service at Seoul's Kimpo airport for Fireman Duane H. Hodges, 22, of Creswell, Ore., fatally injured when the North Koreans captured the Pueblo Jan. 23.

The planes were scheduled to arrive at San Diego's Miramar Naval Air Station at 5 p.m. EST after a refueling stop at Midway Island.

Councilmen Postpone Vote On Auto License

Unable to muster a quorum, City Council postponed a special session set Monday night at which it was to vote on an ordinance levying a $5 - a - year municipal auto tax to provide an estimated $45,000 a year for street programs.

The meeting was called off yesterday afternoon when it became apparent Council could not muster the minimum of four members needed to transact business. The special meeting may be held Friday night, although no new date has been set. Council expects to enact the tax legislation before Jan. 1.

The measure would go into effect with the new year, but motorists apparently would not be required to pay the $5 until they go to a local registrar's office in March to buy new Ohio auto tags.

Blackout Hits In Wellsville, Other Areas

High winds plus the overload of Christmas lights were blamed for a power failure Monday night in Wellsville and the Calcutta and Glenmoor areas.

Raymond E. Barrett, area foreman of the Ohio Power Co., said the overload caused the failure at the 3rd St. substation in Wellsville and the substation in Calcutta.

Affected were about 1,700 customers in the Wellsville and Campground Rd. area and another 200 in Glenmoor along Routes 30 and 267 and Calcutta.

The failure began at 5:26 p.m. Power was restored to some 700 Wellsville residents at 6:25 p.m. and to another 1,000 customers by 7:09.

In the Campground Rd. area, power was out as late as 12:30 a.m. but the situation was cleared up and full power restored to all areas by 1 a.m., Barrett said.

Some 1,100 television cable customers of CATV of Ohio Valley, Inc., were without their favorite programs even after some parts of Wellsville had power restored, because the power supplies of the system in the city were affected due to the outage, John Hales, manager, reported.

right next to it and Anders right next to it."

The television was beamed after Apollo 8 a tiny speck in limitless space, whirled through its second of 10 planned orbits of the moon.

Each pass takes about two hours.

The spacecraft was injected initially into an orbit ranging from 69 to 193 miles above the surface.

The astronauts are to shoot themselves out of orbit at 1:06 a. m. Wednesday and start the 58-hour return to earth.

The momentous orbit insertion climaxed a 69 hour journey that started Saturday at Cape Kennedy in which the astronauts, like three wise men of the past, guided themselves toward a bright object in the heavens.

After a suspenseful 36 minutes in which the astronauts were out of contact behind the moon, where they executed the orbit maneuver, Mission Control Center excitedly announced:

"We've got it! We've got it Apollo 8 is in lunar orbit."

After a check to make certain all systems were working, the control center asked:

"What does the old moon look like?"

Navigator Lovell replied:

"The moon is essentially gray. No color ... The Sea of Fertility doesn't stand out as well here as it does on earth We're getting quite a bit of contrast as we approach the terminator."

The terminator is the line between darkness and light on the moon.

He added that the view was very good and that it was easy to pick out landmarks.

Charting landmarks on the surface to guide future moon-landing astronauts is a major goal of the flight.

On the very first pass, the astronauts zeroed on a surface features intended to serve as guideposts for one of the five areas considered prime astronaut landing sites—a flat area in the Sea of Tranquillity near the crater Censorinus.

"It's almost impossible to miss," Lovell reported. "Very easy to pick out. I can see very clearly the five-cratered star formation which we had on our lunar chart ... and over this mountain chain we can see the second initial point, the triangular mountain."

This is the unnamed mountain which Lovell calls "Mt. Marilyn" after his wife.

As Apollo 8 sped toward the terminator, Lovell continued his vivid description:

"You can see the entire rim of the craters from here ... the white crescent on the far side where the sun is shining on it. The shahows are quite lengthy now."

As Apollo 8 passed north of the craters Colombo and Guttenberg, Anders reported "very good detail ... they're very visible."

Gazing down on a landscape of crater-pocked plains, boulder-strewn plateaus and rugged mountains, Lovell reported on the great number of craters,

"The craters are all rounded off," he said. "There's quite a few of them. Many of them look like, especially the round ones, look like they've been hit by meteorites or projectiles of some sort. The walls of the craters are terraced, about six or seven terraces on the way down."

The historic engine ignition that propelled the astronauts into lunar orbit occurred at 4:59 a.m. EST.

They had been behind the moon for 10 minutes before firing the engine for a four-minute burst that consumed 16,000 pounds of fuel and dropped Apollo 8 into an orbit ranging from 69 to 193 miles, almost precisely the path sought.

"Keep a good eye on us," Borman advised the ground after Apollo 8, a tiny speck in limitless space emerged around the edge of the moon.

Later, they planned to circularize the path at the 69-mile altitude.

They are to circle 10 times in 20 hours above the rugged lunar terrain, photographing it and paving the way for future astronauts to land.

Although future astronauts will land, from this day forward, the history books will be rewritten to record the names of Borman, Lovell and Anders. Schoolboys and girls will read of the exploits of these pioneers who braved a hazardous trek a quarter million miles across a trackless void to reach the moon, a goal man long has dreamed of.

Like three wise men of the past, they followed a bright object in the sky in search of their prize.

And in honor of this holiest of seasons, Borman, Lovell and Anders may make a Christmas Eve plea for peace and unity on earth from a platform 230,000 miles away.

Apollo 8 earlier had been caught in the grasp of lunar gravity and was zipping along at about 5,700 miles an hour when it darted behind the backside.

Allowed to continue on this course, Borman, Lovell and Anders would have whipped once around and back and headed back to earth—one of the mission's built-in safety valves in case the engine failed to ignite.

The firing slowed the speed to about 3,700 miles, the speed necessary to orbit the moon.

Tension built rapidly in Mission Control as Apollo 8 bore down on the moon.

"410 nautical miles ... 350 miles ... 280 miles ..." counted down a voice in Mission Control. "We've got our lunar maps ready," Lovell commented.

"We have loss of signal," Mission Control reported at 4:49 a. m. as Apollo 8 slid behind the backside.

Borman, Lovell and Anders will gaze down at the wild and wondrous landscape of this heavenly body which has puzzled man for centuries.

During 20 hours in which they are to orbit 10 times, the adventurers will take hundreds of photographs, determine how well they can navigate by tracking key landmarks on the surface and report visually on what they see.

They planned to send television pictures twice to give earthlings a closeup view of their closest neighbor, 230,000 miles away. The show was scheduled for 7:30 a.m. EST and 9:31 p.m.

Borman promised before the flight that the crew would make a Christmas gesture from space, perhaps during the second telecast on Christmas Eve. To be meaningful, he said, it would have to be spontaneous.

He hinted it might be a plea for peace and unity when he said:

"When we're finally up at the moon, looking back at the earth, all these differences and nationalistic traits are going to blend and we're going to get a concept that this is really one world and why the hell can't we learn to live together like decent people. I think this might be an appropriate season to go along with that."

Although Borman, Lovell and Anders are more than a quarter million miles from home, they'll know it's Christmas. Mission control plans to pipe Christmas carols and a recorded church service to them over the radio link, and they have on board a turkey dinner fashioned from space food.

They'll be on their way home Christmas Day as they plan to fire out of lunar orbit at 1:06 a.m. Wednesday to start the 58-hour return trip.

Apollo 8 is to splash into the Pacific Ocean at 10:50 a.m. Friday and the astronauts will be reunited with their families in Houston the next day for a belated Christmas celebration.

With Apollo 8 functioning perfectly since its takeoff from Cape Kennedy Saturday, flight controllers Monday night gave the go-ahead for the lunar orbit.

Commander Borman executed a small course correction by firing small jet thrusters for 12 seconds, placing Apollo 8 on the desired path to swing around the back side.

Earlier in the day, the astronauts slipped through an invisible point in space 202,700 miles from earth, where lunar gravity took over from earth gravity and pulled Apollo 8 into the moon's sphere of influence.

The crossing of this so-called "equigravisphere" followed a spectacular television show in which the astronauts relayed a live television picture of the earth taken from 200,000 miles away. It was a spectacular view of the Western Hemisphere, half the world in shadow, half in sunlight, with great patches of clouds.

As Apollo 8 circles the moon, ground stations will determine how accurately they can track the spaceship, which will have an irregular orbit.

Large concentrations of material, possibly nickel-iron meteorites as much as 50 miles in diameter, lie buried beneath the surface and will cause subtle changes in the spaceship's path. Trackers want to know exactly where these shifts occur.

Anders reported before the flight that with present knowledge, gained from tracking unmanned lunar satellites, astronauts could miss a landing point on the moon by as much as 48 miles.

"The more Apollo 8 can learn about the moon's gravitational field, the less will be our error when astronauts land," Anders said.

Apollo 8 also is to photograph areas on the moon considered likely astronaut landing sites, particularly one in the Sea of Tranquility near the crater Censorinus.

"We'll photograph it and other areas extensively," Anders said. "We'll get a stereo effect that will be a valuable tool for training moon landing astronauts. It will show them exactly what their approach will look like, what boulders, craters and so on are there."

right next to it and Anders right next to it."

The television was beamed after Apollo 8 a tiny speck in limitless space, whirled through its second of 10 planned orbits of the moon.

Each pass takes about two hours.

The spacecraft was injected initially into an orbit ranging from 69 to 193 miles above the surface.

The astronauts are to shoot themselves out of orbit at 1:06 a. m. Wednesday and start the 58-hour return to earth.

The momentous orbit insertion climaxed a 69 hour journey that started Saturday at Cape Kennedy in which the astronauts, like three wise men of the past, guided themselves toward a bright object in the heavens.

After a suspenseful 36 minutes in which the astronauts were out of contact behind the moon, where they executed the orbit maneuver, Mission Control Center excitedly announced:

"We've got it! We've got it Apollo 8 is in lunar orbit."

After a check to make certain all systems were working, the control center asked:

"What does the old moon look like?"

Navigator Lovell replied:

"The moon is essentially gray. No color . . . The Sea of Fertility doesn't stand out as well here as it does on earth We're getting quite a bit of contrast as we approach the terminator."

The terminator is the line between darkness and light on the moon.

He added that the view was very good and that it was easy to pick out landmarks.

Charting landmarks on the surface to guide future moon-landing astronauts is a major goal of the flight.

On the very first pass, the astronauts zeroed on a surface features intended to serve as guideposts for one of the five areas considered prime astronaut landing sites—a flat area in the Sea of Tranquillity near the crater Censorinus.

"It's almost impossible to miss," Lovell reported. "Very easy to pick out. I can see very clearly the five-cratered star formation which we had on our lunar chart . . . and over this mountain chain we can see the second initial point, the triangular mountain."

This is the unnamed mountain which Lovell calls "Mt. Marilyn" after his wife.

As Apollo 8 sped toward the terminator, Lovell continued his vivid description:

"You can see the entire rim of the craters from here . . . the white crescent on the far side where the sun is shining on it. The shahows are quite lengthy now."

As Apollo 8 passed north of the craters Colombo and Guttenberg, Anders reported "very good detail . . . they're very visible."

Gazing down on a landscape of crater-pocked plains, boulder-strewn plateaus and rugged mountains, Lovell reported on the great number of craters,

The larger craters, however, could be seen plainly.

At times, when the camera panned upward, the curving arc of the horizon could be seen.

"We are now passing abeam of the crater Houston," Anders said. "I'll shine the camera over there once for the folks in Houston. It's a big and sprawly one."

Lovell said impact craters could be seen easily. "These small impact craters have dark spots in the center where it appears that they buried in and hit some new material below that's got a lot of fine, white dust," he said.

From the ground it looked as if the craters had white rays radiating outward.

There was one disappointment.

The Space Center had said earlier that there was a possibility the camera could capture—behind the pitted foreground—the gleaming bauble that is mother earth, 231,000 miles distant today.

There was no explanation of why the astronauts, who have been sharing their wondrous journey with a world hardened to fantasy, didn't show this spectacular sight.

As their ship glided toward its fabled destination Monday, the astronauts sent back an astounding view of earth, wrapped partly in clouds—but with seas and land masses showing through plainly.

"What you are seeing," said astronaut James Lovell, acting as a guide, "is the western hemisphere. Looking at the top is the North Pole. In the center, just lower to the center is South America, all the way down to Cape Horn.

"I can see Baja California and the southwestern part of the United States. There is a big cloud bank going northeast—covers a lot of the Gulf of Mexico up to the eastern part of the United States. It appears now that the East Coast is cloudy. I can see clouds over part of Mexico; the parts of Central America are clear."

Lovell described the waters as "sort of royal blue" and the land areas as "dark brownish to light in texture." The ship was about 200,000 miles from earth at the time.

Addressing himself to Air Force Col. Frank Borman, the spacecraft commander, Lovell speculated:

"Frank, what I keep imagining is if I am some lonely traveler from another planet, what would I think about the earth at this altitude? Whether I would think it would be inhabited or not?"

That brought, in mission control, what a spokesman said was the loudest laughter ever heard.

"Don't see anybody waving—is that what you are saying?" said Michael Collins, the astronaut acting as ground communicator.

"I was just kind of curious if I would land on the blue or the brown part of the earth," Lovell said.

At that point, Borman chimed in, "You better hope that we land on the blue part."

And Collins added: "So do we, babe."

Later, while directing astronaut-cameraman William A. Anders in the infinitesimally small movements that put the earth in the field of view of Apollo 8's nine-degree telephoto lens, Collins said, "Our earth's disappearing up and to the right."

He caught himself and added, "Our earth and your earth."

Viewers could plainly see the terminator—the line between light and dark. The terminator was creeping across the Atlantic Ocean at the time.

There had been some discussion before the telecast of possibly turning the camera moonward too, but it wasn't feasible during the 22-minute transmission.

"Mike, I think we will have to save the moon for another time," said Borman.

"Roger. I understand,' said the director from earth.

"Okay, earth, this is Apollo 8 signing off for today,' Borman radioed a few minutes later as the picture faded from the screen.

"Good show, Apollo 8," said Collins. "We appreciate it. See you manana."

Manana was to be today.

Stock Market Skids In Moderate Trading

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market skidded to its second steepest loss of the year Monday in moderate trading.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials fell 13.24 points to 953.75, its biggest drop since it declined 13.60 on July 22.

Brokers attributed the setback to apprehension over the tightening money situation and the fact that it was the last day in which profits and losses could be taken for 1968 tax purposes.

Of 1,601 issues traded, 1,024 declined and 376 advanced.

Volume slipped to 12.97 million shares from 15.91 million Friday.

The larger craters, however, could be seen plainly.

At times, when the camera panned upward, the curving arc of the horizon could be seen.

"We are now passing abeam of the crater Houston," Anders said. "I'll shine the camera over there once for the folks in Houston. It's a big and sprawly one."

Lovell said impact craters could be seen easily. "These small impact craters have dark spots in the center where it appears that they buried in and hit some new material below that's got a lot of fine, white dust," he said.

From the ground it looked as if the craters had white rays radiating outward.

There was one disappointment.

The Space Center had said earlier that there was a possibility the camera could capture—behind the pitted foreground—the gleaming bauble that is mother earth, 231,000 miles distant today.

There was no explanation of why the astronauts, who have been sharing their wondrous journey with a world hardened to fantasy, didn't show this spectacular sight.

As their ship glided toward its fabled destination Monday, the astronauts sent back an astounding view of earth, wrapped partly in clouds—but with seas and land masses showing through plainly.

"What you are seeing," said astronaut James Lovell, acting as a guide, "is the western hemisphere. Looking at the top is the North Pole. In the center, just lower to the center is South America, all the way down to Cape Horn.

"I can see Baja California and the southwestern part of the United States. There is a big cloud bank going northeast—covers a lot of the Gulf of Mexico up to the eastern part of the United States. It appears now that the East Coast is cloudy. I can see clouds over part of Mexico; the parts of Central America are clear."

Lovell described the waters as "sort of royal blue" and the land areas as "dark brownish to light in texture." The ship was about 200,000 miles from earth at the time.

Addressing himself to Air Force Col. Frank Borman, the spacecraft commander, Lovell speculated:

"Frank, what I keep imagining is if I am some lonely traveler from another planet, what would I think about the earth at this altitude? Whether I would think it would be inhabited or not?"

That brought, in mission control, what a spokesman said was the loudest laughter ever heard.

"Don't see anybody waving—is that what you are saying?" said Michael Collins, the astronaut acting as ground communicator.

"I was just kind of curious if I would land on the blue or the brown part of the earth," Lovell said.

At that point, Borman chimed in, "You better hope that we land on the blue part."

And Collins added: "So do we, babe."

Later, while directing astronaut-cameraman William A. Anders in the infinitesimally small movements that put the earth in the field of view of Apollo 8's nine-degree telephoto lens, Collins said, "Our earth's disappearing up and to the right."

He caught himself and added, "Our earth and your earth."

Viewers could plainly see the terminator—the line between light and dark. The terminator was creeping across the Atlantic Ocean at the time.

There had been some discussion before the telecast of possibly turning the camera moonward too, but it wasn't feasible during the 22-minute transmission.

"Mike, I think we will have to save the moon for another time," said Borman.

"Roger. I understand,' said the director from earth.

"Okay, earth, this is Apollo 8 signing off for today,' Borman radioed a few minutes later as the picture faded from the screen.

"Good show, Apollo 8," said Collins. "We appreciate it. See you manana."

Manana was to be today.

Stock Market Skids In Moderate Trading

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market skidded to its second steepest loss of the year Monday in moderate trading.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials fell 13.24 points to 953.75, its biggest drop since it declined 13.60 on July 22.

Brokers attributed the setback to apprehension over the tightening money situation and the fact that it was the last day in which profits and losses could be taken for 1968 tax purposes.

Of 1,601 issues traded, 1,024 declined and 376 advanced.

Christmas Day 1968

The "do-not-fold,-spindle-or-mutilate" society of a fast-fading 20th century is not as cold, hard and computerized as some would have us believe . . . We are impressed every year at the outpouring of warmth, compassion and good will inspired by the celebration of Christmas.

The season is not without its Scrooges. We all know some of them.

WHAT IS MORE AMAZING and indicative of the sincere sentiment spawned by the observance of the birth of Christ is that so many keep alive the spirit of eternal light symbolized by the Star of Bethlehem.

The unusual strength and quality of this holy holiday is evident in its effect on those who do not hold with its religious message. Thoughts and hopes of peace and good will are not restricted to a particular faith.

Christmas, more than any other time of year, welds together a sense of fulfillment, hope, interest in others and a renewal of religious doctrine that — although wrapped in mysticism — is meaningful.

On this day of days, it is not considered old-fashioned or "square" to look toward a better day for the world.

It is a day to be humbly thankful for blessings in hand — without forgetting that so much remains to be done to gain harmony and peace in the world.

The problems besetting our nation and the world are so complicated and varied it is sometimes tempting to say they are unsolvable. But no problem has ever been solved where there was no will or faith that a solution could be found.

MILLIONS TODAY are rereading Luke's account of "good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people."

Observation of the birth of Christ should be more than an emollient to the soul of man. it should be a trumpet call to work as yet unfinished.

The wonder of this day shines forth in the characteristics of a man we can be proud of. He is joyful, kind, considerate, generous and loving.

It is our wish that the spirit of Christmas, so much in evidence today, will not quietly disappear with the dawning of tomorrow but will remain throughout the coming year.

From Paul And Us

There are special memories which help mark certain Christmases for each family circle—the year a son was away in service, the year a daughter's engagement was announced, the year of the first grandchild.

This Christmas will be remembered by Americans as the year three astronauts spent the holiday around the moon.

But to the staff of The Review, this will also be the year of the Christmas card campaign for Paul McCraw, 9-year-old East End boy who is in Children's Hospital at Pittsburgh facing a bleak future with a kidney affliction.

In response to a suggestion by Robert Popp, dean of the newsroom staff, that contributions be made in Christmas cards for help in meeting Paul's hospitalization bills, hundreds of cards with money have been flowing into our office. Collections made in neighborhoods, potteries, stores and elsewhere have been turned in.

There is a close relationship between a newspaper and the people it serves. The paper not only chronicles the area's happenings, reflects the local attitudes and interests and is the bearer of many personal tidings into each home six days a week, there is also a mutual exchange of ideas and proposals between the staff and subscribers which make for a better community.

We think this year that link with our readers is a little stronger, and has reaped a bit more benefit for all of us as a result of Paul McCraw.

For him and for his family but especially for The Review we thank those who have assisted, and wish every one a very merry Christmas.

Some Holiday Wishes

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — At this holiday season, my thoughts turn to all Americans, particularly those who spent so many hours of their days and nights watching television and, of course, the commercials.

These are my holiday wishes to all of you:

Art Buchwald

May you never have iron-poor blood or an Excedrin headache. May your breath always be fresh, so your kid sister won't hand you her mouthwash. May you never perspire in case someone in the family has stolen the underarm deodorant. Grant that your stomach may always be free of demons and that your eight sinus passages will be open and clear.

I PRAY THAT YOUR CHILDREN will never be in the group that has cavities, and if they can't brush after every meal, God grant that you have the wisdom to choose the right toothpaste. I ask if you have dentures that they never slip out of your mouth, and may you come back to the side that chose the correct hair dressing.

May you never be lacking in breakfast cereal vitamins and may your tresses be so silky and shiny that your husband will have to take you along with him.

May your bra be firm and your girdle comfortable and may your support stockings make your legs feel elegant and strong.

I pray that your cough will never keep you awake and that your soap will give you 24-hour protection. I also wish your facial cream will make you feel young again, and a dove will land on your dishpan hands.

MAY YOUR SHAVING CREAM soften your beard, and may you get more shaves with your blade than with any other comparable brand. May a girl wrestle you to the floor after you use a certain after-shave lotion.

Moreover, may your cigarettes always be mild and contain less tar, and may your beer always be cold and refreshing.

I wish all men clean white shirts, free of ring around the collar, and as for wives, may your pie crusts be flaky and your catsup run slow.

Grant that your refrigerators will always have enough ice, and that your oven cleaners will do their job in a jiffy. Pray that moths fear your closets and your mosquitoes drop like flys.

May your sandwiches always be freshly wrapped, and may peanut butter never stick to the roof of your mouth.

I trust the wax will stay on your floor and the stains on your furniture will disappear in seconds.

Furthermore, I wish you a friend at your bank and a loan to tide you over your troubles. And, prithee, if your bank turns you down, may your fingers find a local finance company in the yellow pages.

May you have a specially trained insurance agent to help you plan for the future, and if lightning should strike your house, may he be waiting for you with a check at the door.

GRANT THAT YOUR DOG gets the right proportion of meat and cereal in his food, and that your cat has enough nourishment in the can to keep his coat healthy and clean.

Would that the new car you buy provide speed, comfort and safety for the whole family, and never be recalled to the factory because of a warranty.

I pray that you never get a flat tire on a dark highway and that you never get stuck in the snow because you used the wrong gasoline.

May your spark plugs spark and your battery never run down. May you win thousands of dollars at gas station sweepstakes, and may you always be able to rent a car with clean ash trays.

Finally, I wish each and every one of you instant tuning, a clear, ghost-free picture, and on this holiday may all your television tubes be bright.

Letters To The Editor

Police Move Explained

I am writing this letter in answer to Councilman Frank Dufffy's hasty remarks at City Council meeting Dec. 16. Those that did not read what Mr. Duffy had to say about me as well as the Police Dept. in the paper missed a fine example of telling a story second hand and leaving out the important details of the entire matter.

The car that was towed off the street had no license plates, was parked for over five days and also disabled—three lawful reasons to tow a car off the street no matter who owns it.

Mr. Duffy stated that the police dept. gave the new owner of this car permission to let it set on the street "briefly" until he could get license plates for it. There is no officer on this police dept. foolish enough to tell someone they can break the law. The new owner of that car (Duffy's daughter being the previous owner) called the police on a Saturday afternoon and stated that he just purchased an automobile and couldn't get plates for it until Monday morning.

He was told at that time that it was illegal to let a car set on city streets with no license plates, and that he should put it on private property. He stated that the car was now parked and disabled at that itme, but he would take care of it Monday.

He was then told that the police couldn't give him permission to leave the car out, but since he couldn't do otherwise he should leave a note in the event an officer should discover his car while on patrol. The note was to say he would get plates for the car Monday morning and that he had contacted the police about it. He was not given permission to let the car set on the street, the note was to give an explanation of the car being as it was.

I was the officer that towed the car off the street. A week prior to this matter I went around the downtown area marking tires of autos that hadn't been moved in some time. This car happened to be one of the many cars I marked to be towed after 72 hours had passed if it was not moved in the meantime.

After I called for a wrecker. I found a note under the windshield wiper stating that the car was just purchased and would get plates for it Monday morning. Then the note said, "Police said OK". I knew different because I was the policeman the new owner talked to on the phone. When the wrecker hooked up the previous owner came out and gave me a hard time about towing the car.

I showed her when I marked the tire a week prior to this, also no license plates on the vehicle. She argued for two days about the towing of that car and it was no longer hers. She also had no grounds to try to talk me out of the towing, and as persistant as she was I could have arrested her for interference with an officer in the performance of his duty. I was as polite as I could be with her, but I still towed the car because the law requires it.

In Mr. Duffy's statement to Council, he said I got smart with the lady and told her to talk to her Councilman about it. It appears to me that Mr. Duffy is trying to play judge and jury about this matter he obviously knows nothing about, because he only heard one side of the story (his daughter's side) and he didn't even try to ask me about it.

Mr. Duffy was very foolish to even mention this incident because he was presenting an argument for a party that was completely wrong. Who is he to say the law can be broken by a choice few or who ever he feels can break it?

The only thing I expect from Mr. Duffy is an apology for accusing me falsely.

Boyce Defended

As employees at the Columbiana County Home we would like to state a few facts about our boss, Mr. Robert Boyce.

He has a great love for the people who he is taking care of at the home. He knows all his patients in the two hospital units and dormitories by their first and last name, and knows if the person is a bed patient, confined to a chair or if able to be up and about by themselves. He knows their personal needs and wants as well as the medical needs.

Known as "Dad" to a lot of them, he takes Dad's place for them when they just want to talk or need a problem worked out. Often times when one of his people have a chance to go home, but have no transportation, dear Dad is there, takes them home for a visit and goes back and picks them up.

His office is open to all his people no matter how tired he is. He always has time for his people.

No matter what time of the day or night he is called for a sick patient, he is there to check the patient with the help of his nursing staff. He contacts the doctor, hospital or ambulance to get the patient the best care he is able, to. Often either being up all night or only getting a couple hours sleep.

We know he has spent many hours at the barn with sick cattle helping with them any way he could. He certainly is not the kind of man to let his cattle go hungry or get sick.

He takes great pride in the operation of the home. Without him and his enthusiasm, the home will certainly not be the same. Without Mr. Boyce and a doctor what will our people do? It is Mr. Boyce who picks up the phone and gets help for his people. Even when its very hard at times to get help, he keeps trying until he gets the help we need for the ill patient. Now we are faced with losing the man we depend on when we run into trouble.

What will happen to our people? Dad will be gone for six months. We sure will miss him.

Musings From Max

By MARTIN MILLER

One of the paradoxes we see today is strong arguments for military assistance to smaller nations threatened by communism and at the same time arguments against foreign aid which was largely designed to discourage the spread of communism.

Congress has slashed foreign aid to a drop in the bucket compared to what it was formerly. And oddly enough many of those who most strongly oppose foreign aid are the staunchest advocates of military aid which in the end often is much more expensive in dollars and blood.

When in doubt, cut off peaceful means of help and start shooting. Ah, well.

Another paradox is the way we yell about centralization of government power and tax collections in Washington and state capitals and the way voters continue to vote down local school tax levies.

Everybody is in favor of education but many school districts are always on the brink of financial disaster. It just don't make sense.

International diplomacy is often described as being an art, as in the phrase "the art of diplomacy." That means that some people probably will like it and some people won't — as with other art.

Thus it was not surprising to see this quote by William W. Scranton, President-slect Nixon's special Middle East envoy, after he conferred with Arab leaders: "Precisely what they have in mind I do not think is actually completely specific, but they are hopeful that there will be what they call a change in U.S. policy in the Middle East."

Wouldn't you know that Hong Kong resents everybody putting its name on the flu that is plaguing us.

A Hong Kong official reports that the so-called Hong Kong flu actually started in Red China.

Virus warfare, eh?

As for that fatuous saying of young people, "Never trust anybody over 30," along comes an insurance executive who says a survey of 100,000 drivers over 55 shows they are more honest than younger drivers when it comes to filling out applications and filing claims — and they keep their cars in better condition. So there.

A couple of jokes came our way.

A French count was going to be guillotined because he would not divulge secret information but at the last minute he spilled his secret and was spared, prompting some one to say, "Don't hatchet your count before he chickens."

And then there was the Indian who took a correspondence course in electricity and was asked to string wires for lights in the outhouses and thus became the first person to ever wire a head for a reservation. That's navy talk, folks.

Those two are somewhat like the joke of a few years back about the Chinaman named Chan who had a curio shop in the northwest where he sold teakwood items. His merchandise kept disappearing and the only clue was what appeared to be the print of a small foot in the dust on the floor.

So Chan stayed up one night to watch and saw a small bear sneak into the shop and grab a teakwood curio whereupon Chan yelled, "Hey there, boyfoot bear with teaks of Chan."

Through The Years

The Rev. Albert W. Smith of Wesleyville, Pa., was called as pastor of the Newell Church of the Nazarene to succeed the Rev. C. C. Shaffer, who resigned.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — Harold Weaver of New Waterford was graduated from the Southern College of Optometry at Memphis, Tenn.

Editors of Associated Press newspapers voted Sen. Margaret Chase Smith as "woman of the year."

Eugene Dornan was general chairman for the annual Christmas party given by the M2 Club of the Masons, which attracted 225 children to the Chester temple.

TEN YEARS AGO — Five Christmas trees were presented and trimmed at the Fox Nursing Home in Chester by members of the Auxiliary of the American Legion Post 121 in Chester.

George Prokop and Anthony Cataldo were presented past grand knight pins at a meeting of the Wellsville Knights of Columbus.

Collections made in neighborhoods, potteries, stores and elsewhere have been turned in.

There is a close relationship between a newspaper and the people it serves. The paper not only chronicles the area's happenings, reflects the local attitudes and interests and is the bearer of many personal tidings into each home six days a week, there is also a mutual exchange of ideas and proposals between the staff and subscribers which make for a better community.

We think this year that link with our readers is a little stronger, and has reaped a bit more benefit for all of us as a result of Paul McCraw.

For him and for his family but especially for The Review we thank those who have assisted, and wish every one a very merry Christmas.

Some Holiday Wishes

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — At this holiday season, my thoughts turn to all Americans, particularly those who spent so many hours of their days and nights watching television and, of course, the commercials.

These are my holiday wishes to all of you:

Art Buchwald

May you never have iron-poor blood or an Excedrin headache. May your breath always be fresh, so your kid sister won't hand you her mouthwash. May you never perspire in case someone in the family has stolen the underarm deodorant. Grant that your stomach may always be free of demons and that your eight sinus passages will be open and clear.

I PRAY THAT YOUR CHILDREN will never be in the group that has cavities, and if they can't brush after every meal, God grant that you have the wisdom to choose the right toothpaste. I ask if you have dentures that they never slip out of your mouth, and may you come back to the side that chose the correct hair dressing.

May you never be lacking in breakfast cereal vitamins and may your tresses be so silky and shiny that your husband will have to take you along with him.

May your bra be firm and your girdle comfortable and may your support stockings make your legs feel elegant and strong.

I pray that your cough will never keep you awake and that your soap will give you 24-hour protection. I also wish your facial cream will make you feel young again, and a dove will land on your dishpan hands.

MAY YOUR SHAVING CREAM soften your beard, and may you get more shaves with your blade than with any other comparable brand. May a girl wrestle you to the floor after you use a certain after-shave lotion.

Moreover, may your cigarettes always be mild and contain less tar, and may your beer always be cold and refreshing.

I wish all men clean white shirts, free of ring around the collar, and as for wives, may your pie crusts be flaky and your catsup run slow.

Grant that your refrigerators will always have enough ice, and that your oven cleaners will do their job in a jiffy. Pray that moths fear your closets and your mosquitoes drop like flys.

May your sandwiches always be freshly wrapped, and may peanut butter never stick to the roof of your mouth.

I trust the wax will stay on your floor and the stains on your furniture will disappear in seconds.

Furthermore, I wish you a friend at your bank and a loan to tide you over your troubles. And, prithee, if your bank turns you down, may your fingers find a local finance company in the yellow pages.

May you have a specially trained insurance agent to help you plan for the future, and if lightning should strike your house, may he be waiting for you with a check at the door.

GRANT THAT YOUR DOG gets the right proportion of meat and cereal in his food, and that your cat has enough nourishment in the can to keep his coat healthy and clean.

Would that the new car you buy provide speed, comfort and safety for the whole family, and never be recalled to the factory because of a warranty.

I pray that you never get a flat tire on a dark highway and that you never get stuck in the snow because you used the wrong gasoline.

May your spark plugs spark and your battery never run down. May you win thousands of dollars at gas station sweepstakes, and may you always be able to rent a car with clean ash trays.

Finally, I wish each and every one of you instant tuning, a clear, ghost-free picture, and on this holiday may all your television tubes be bright.

Letters To The Editor

Police Move Explained

I am writing this letter in answer to Councilman Frank Dufffy's hasty remarks at City Council meeting Dec. 16. Those that did not read what Mr. Duffy had to say about me as well as the Police Dept. in the paper missed a fine example of telling a story second hand and leaving out the important details of the entire matter.

The car that was towed off the street had no license plates, was parked for over five days and also disabled—three lawful reasons to tow a car off the street no matter who owns it.

Mr. Duffy stated that the police dept. gave the new owner of this car permission to let it set on the street "briefly" until he could get license plates for it. There is no officer on this police dept. foolish enough to tell someone they can break the law. The new owner of that car (Duffy's daughter being the previous owner) called the police on a Saturday afternoon and stated that he just purchased an automobile and couldn't get plates for it until Monday morning.

He was told at that time that it was illegal to let a car set on city streets with no license plates, and that he should put it on private property. He stated that the car was now parked and disabled at that itme, but he would take care of it Monday.

He was then told that the police couldn't give him permission to leave the car out, but since he couldn't do otherwise he should leave a note in the event an officer should discover his car while on patrol. The note was to say he would get plates for the car Monday morning and that he had contacted the police about it. He was not given permission to let the car set on the street, the note was to give an explanation of the car being as it was.

I was the officer that towed the car off the street. A week prior to this matter I went around the downtown area marking tires of autos that hadn't been moved in some time. This car happened to be one of the many cars I marked to be towed after 72 hours had passed if it was not moved in the meantime.

After I called for a wrecker. I found a note under the windshield wiper stating that the car was just purchased and would get plates for it Monday morning. Then the note said, "Police said OK". I knew different because I was the policeman the new owner talked to on the phone. When the wrecker hooked up the previous owner came out and gave me a hard time about towing the car.

I showed her when I marked the tire a week prior to this, also no license plates on the vehicle. She argued for two days about the towing of that car and it was no longer hers. She also had no grounds to try to talk me out of the towing, and as persistant as she was I could have arrested her for interference with an officer in the performance of his duty. I was as polite as I could be with her, but I still towed the car because the law requires it.

In Mr. Duffy's statement to Council, he said I got smart with the lady and told her to talk to her Councilman about it. It appears to me that Mr. Duffy is trying to play judge and jury about this matter he obviously knows nothing about, because he only heard one side of the story (his daughter's side) and he didn't even try to ask me about it.

Mr. Duffy was very foolish to even mention this incident because he was presenting an argument for a party that was completely wrong. Who is he to say the law can be broken by a choice few or who ever he feels can break it?

The only thing I expect from Mr. Duffy is an apology for accusing me falsely.

Boyce Defended

As employees at the Columbiana County Home we would like to state a few facts about our boss, Mr. Robert Boyce.

He has a great love for the people who he is taking care of at the home. He knows all his patients in the two hospital units and dormitories by their first and last name, and knows if the person is a bed patient, confined to a chair or if able to be up and about by themselves. He knows their personal needs and wants as well as the medical needs.

Known as "Dad" to a lot of them, he takes Dad's place for them when they just want to talk or need a problem worked out. Often times when one of his people have a chance to go home, but have no transportation, dear Dad is there, takes them home for a visit and goes back and picks them up.

His office is open to all his people no matter how tired he is. He always has time for his people.

No matter what time of the day or night he is called for a sick patient, he is there to check the patient with the help of his nursing staff. He contacts the doctor, hospital or ambulance to get the patient the best care he is able, to. Often either being up all night or only getting a couple hours sleep.

We know he has spent many hours at the barn with sick cattle helping with them any way he could. He certainly is not the kind of man to let his cattle go hungry or get sick.

He takes great pride in the operation of the home. Without him and his enthusiasm, the home will certainly not be the same. Without Mr. Boyce and a doctor what will our people do? It is Mr. Boyce who picks up the phone and gets help for his people. Even when its very hard at times to get help, he keeps trying until he gets the help we need for the ill patient. Now we are faced with losing the man we depend on when we run into trouble.

What will happen to our people? Dad will be gone for six months. We sure will miss him.

Musings From Max

By MARTIN MILLER

One of the paradoxes we see today is strong arguments for military assistance to smaller nations threatened by communism and at the same time arguments against foreign aid which was largely designed to discourage the spread of communism.

Congress has slashed foreign aid to a drop in the bucket compared to what it was formerly. And oddly enough many of those who most strongly oppose foreign aid are the staunchest advocates of military aid which in the end often is much more expensive in dollars and blood.

When in doubt, cut off peaceful means of help and start shooting. Ah, well.

Another paradox is the way we yell about centralization of government power and tax collections in Washington and state capitals and the way voters continue to vote down local school tax levies.

Everybody is in favor of education but many school districts are always on the brink of financial disaster. It just don't make sense.

International diplomacy is often described as being an art, as in the phrase "the art of diplomacy." That means that some people probably will like it and some people won't — as with other art.

Thus it was not surprising to see this quote by William W. Scranton, President-slect Nixon's special Middle East envoy, after he conferred with Arab leaders: "Precisely what they have in mind I do not think is actually completely specific, but they are hopeful that there will be what they call a change in U.S. policy in the Middle East."

Wouldn't you know that Hong Kong resents everybody putting its name on the flu that is plaguing us.

A Hong Kong official reports that the so-called Hong Kong flu actually started in Red China.

Virus warfare, eh?

As for that fatuous saying of young people, "Never trust anybody over 30," along comes an insurance executive who says a survey of 100,000 drivers over 55 shows they are more honest than younger drivers when it comes to filling out applications and filing claims — and they keep their cars in better condition. So there.

A couple of jokes came our way.

A French count was going to be guillotined because he would not divulge secret information but at the last minute he spilled his secret and was spared, prompting some one to say, "Don't hatchet your count before he chickens."

And then there was the Indian who took a correspondence course in electricity and was asked to string wires for lights in the outhouses and thus became the first person to ever wire a head for a reservation. That's navy talk, folks.

Those two are somewhat like the joke of a few years back about the Chinaman named Chan who had a curio shop in the northwest where he sold teakwood items. His merchandise kept disappearing and the only clue was what appeared to be the print of a small foot in the dust on the floor.

So Chan stayed up one night to watch and saw a small bear sneak into the shop and grab a teakwood curio whereupon Chan yelled, "Hey there, boyfoot bear with teaks of Chan."

Through The Years

The Rev. Albert W. Smith of Wesleyville, Pa., was called as pastor of the Newell Church of the Nazarene to succeed the Rev. C. C. Shaffer, who resigned.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — Harold Weaver of New Waterford was graduated from the Southern College of Optometry at Memphis, Tenn.

Editors of Associated Press newspapers voted Sen. Margaret Chase Smith as "woman of the year."

Eugene Dornan was general chairman for the annual Christmas party given by the M2 Club of the Masons, which attracted 225 children to the Chester temple.

TEN YEARS AGO — Five Christmas trees were presented and trimmed at the Fox Nursing Home in Chester by members of the Auxiliary of the American Legion Post 121 in Chester.

George Prokop and Anthony Cataldo were presented past grand knight pins at a meeting of the Wellsville Knights of Columbus.

Timely Quotes

"When someone is spending millions on a film, I don't think it's too much to ask you to take your clothes off. It's not like asking you to change your religion or anything."

—Genevieve Waite, South African actress, on nudity in her new film.

"If we have to start over again with another Adam and Eve, then I want them to be Americans and not Russians and I want them to be on this continent and not in Europe."

—Sen. Richard Russell, D-Ga., arguing for anti-ballistic missile defense against nuclear attack.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Save Christmas Wrapping

DEAR FOLKS: Tomorrow is THE day.

Remember not to throw away any of that beautiful Christmas wrapping.

Heloise

Most of it can be ironed out and used again.

I even pressed a warm iron over some cellophane stickem tape and was able to remove it, by pulling it off slowly while the tape was still warm . . . and didn't even tear the paper. Also polish remover will take off any gummy stuff left from the tape.

Wrap the paper you save around one of those long cardboard rolls your Christmas paper came on, and have it ready for wrapping gifts later. I rolled the STRICTLY Christmas paper on first and put anything else that can be used during the year on the outside. Makes it easier to get to.

Before rolling it, I cut off the torn or frayed ends. You're not going to use that anyway. Why save it and clutter up your storage space?

Now, for the foil-type paper with striking stripes . . . and the sheets that are creased real bad or torn in the excitement of unwrapping the package. Fold and set these aside until a later day. It always comes, you know!

Next month or so when you clean out the dresser in the bedroom, use this paper to line the drawers. Never mind if it doesn't match. It really doesn't matter at all. We never have more than one drawer open at a time anyway, do we?

Because it's heavy, most Christmas wrapping paper will last years. I lined a couple of drawers this way four years ago and it's still great. It can easily be wiped clean. And best of all, it's cheery to see when you open a drawer and scramble around trying to find something.

Use the smaller pieces to line your linen closets, shelves above your clothes, bathroom drawers, medicine cabinets and pantry shelves. The foil wrapping is the greatest to line the cabinet shelves under your sink.

When you get around to cleaning out that silverware drawer, remember to use the foil here, too.

So don't throw any of that pretty paper away.

Tomorrow always comes. At least it has for thousands of years and look at the money you're gonna save. Not for a thousand years, but tomorrow, that is . . .

MRS. C. O.

DEAR HELOISE: Here's my hint for setting hair.

I cut a thin sponge into a two-by-three-inch size. Then dip it in water, squeeze it out, and moisten it again with my favorite hair setting lotion.

With this little sponge, I wet each section of hair to the desired dampness. This is fast and easy with no drips or muss whatsoever, and it saves lotion.

MRS. K. E. BLISS

DEAR HELOISE: We live in the country and shop only once a week, so I buy the large size jars of instant coffee.

I put the coffee into smaller containers as it stays fresh much longer, and is easier to dip from a small jar.

A HOUSEWIFE

DEAR HELOISE: My little son outgrew his insulated blanket.

So I cut it, bound the edges with bias tape, and had some durable hot pads.

They are thick, soft, and cost nothing.

COFFEE PAL

DEAR HELOISE: Does it sometimes happen that your little girl wants pigtails or a pony tail with bows and you've no ribbon handy to match what she's wearing? Check your sewing supplies and chances are you will have some leftover seam binding in a desirable color.

My daughter has had many colors of "ribbons" because I had lots of seam binding cards with just a little left on them.

Pope Paul planned to celebrate midnight Mass for workers tonight near the roaring blast furnace of a steel mill in Taranto, in the heel of the Italian boot. Christmas is what it used to be

In the mind's eye, we see Christmases of yesteryear. The beauty of a snowbound landscape generating a deep and satisfying peace. Life moving a pace slower to the rhythm of a horse-drawn sleigh. At the end of the Christmas Eve journey, the spirited laughter, the shaking of snow from clothing as we entered the house to be engulfed by the warming glow of a crackling fireplace. The stockings hung nearby. The tree, cut from a nearby grove, decorated with paper ornaments and popcorn balls. The family together, held in that enchanting time and place by the Yuletide spirit. And the joy and anticipation of the children working a magic that encircled everyone.

Then some things changed! Life's pace increased its speed, sometimes to a dizzying dimension, leaving precious little time for experiencing the peace and beauty of the snow-covered land. Out of the material progress that changed our values and our lives came the cry "Christmas is not what it used to be."

Yet, isn't it? Isn't it the same as it has always been? It still holds the same promise that it held that night nearly 20 centuries ago in Bethlehem. Its spirit . . . yes, even its enchantment . . . still lives, needing only to be accepted and nurtured in the hearts of men. The magic of the season abides if we will but take the time to recognize it, for Christmas is everlasting. It is a way of thinking, a belief in people, a state of mind, an abiding faith in the promise that came to us in the manger so long ago.

Yes, the spirit of Christmas abounds and leaves on everything a touch of greatness and of peace. It awaits you and is yours if you will but take the time to seek it. May it enter your life this season and remain with you throughout the coming year.

Schell, 21, of Windsor Dr. and a 1964 sedan operated by James McNear, 64, of 411 Persimmon Ln. Schell was driving on Hill Blvd. and McNear was proceeding on St. Clair Ave.

It involved a 1961 sedan driven by James Bowen, 17, of LaCroft and a 1965 auto operated by Regis Roseberry, 21, of Sherwood Ave. Bowen, driving north on St. Clair Ave., said his auto slid on a curve and hit the oncoming Roseberry vehicle.

Patients In Nursing Homes Due Flu Shots

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Patients in Cuyahoga County's 90 nursing homes will receive top priority for some 2,000 doses of flu vaccine expected to arrive in January, health officials say.

Elvin Hayes Hits 1,000 Point Mark

NEW YORK (AP) — Elvin Hayes, sensational rookie of the San Diego Rockets, is the first National Basketball Association player to score 1,000 points this season.

Figures released today showed the 6-foot-9 Big E with 1,037 points and a 30.5 average, both NBA highs. Seattle's Bob Rule is second in total points with 891 but Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati, who has 844 points, has the second best per-game average, 27.2.

Elgin Baylor of Los Angeles and Baltimore's Earl Monroe also have better averages than Rule.

Hayes also is one of the top rebounders. The first-year pro from Houston has 603 rebounds to 698 for Wilt Chamberlain of Los Angeles. Chamberlain also leads in field goal percentage with .585 to .560 for Jerry Lucas of Cincinnati.

Cincinnati's Adrian Smith and Robertson rank 1-2 in foul shooting with .864 and .855. Seattle's Lennie Wilkens, sixth in scoring, is the top playmaker with 318 assists to Robertson's 305 but the Big O's average of 9.8 per game is best.

OSU Works Out With Kern At QB

LOS ANGELES (AP) — With Rex Kern back at the helm, the Ohio State football team prepared today to step up workouts for its Jan. 1 Rose Bowl date with Southern California.

The Buckeyes went through a 140-minute drill at East Los Angeles College on Monday morning, then took a tour of Disneyland — a standard procedure for visiting Rose Bowl teams.

Kern practiced for the first time since he suffered a mild shoulder separation three weeks ago. He still wears a left shoulder brace when off the field.

Woody Hayes, coach of the Buckeyes, indicated the rest of this week's practices would be as lengthy as Monday's drill.

Christmas Tree At Church Hit With Firebomb

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Vandals struck at the Asbury United Methodist Church here Monday night for the seventh time since last Thanksgiving, this time causing $800 damage in the firebombing of the church's Christmas tree.

The fire bomb had been tossed beneath the Christmas tree, which was destroyed along with other church furnishings.

Teen-agers Fred Valentine and Mike Bruner, who had been in the church basement, heard sounds of glass breaking, ran up stairs and used a fire extinguisher. They had the blaze under control by the time firemen arrived.

The first attack on the church last Thanksgiving caused $1,187 damage to the church pews. In other incidents the church microphone cable was out, windows broken and the church flag destroyed.

The Rev. Mr. Donald Clarke said he could offer no explanation why his church has been the target of the vandalism.

More Time Requested To Prepare Defense

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Assistant Lake County Prosecutor Paul H. Mitrovich has asked for more time to prepare the state's defense of the death penalty verdict against 17-year-old Fred M. Esherick Jr.

The Painesville youth was convicted in December, 1967, for the bayonet slaying of his father and has been in Ohio Penitentiary's Death Row since last January.

Attorneys for Esherick have filed a 98-page appeal, contending that there were nine errors in his Lake County Common Pleas Court trial.

Mitrovich asked the 11th District Court of Appeals to extend a Jan. 6 deadline for answering the appeal at at least Feb. 6.

Red Party Members Decrease In Australia

MELBOURNE (AP) — Communist Party membership in Australia has dropped from 25,000 to 5,000 in the last 20 years, according to the vice president of the Australian Communist Party, John Sendy.

Sendy told a political science society meeting at Melbourne University the Communist Party had failed to attract any section of the younger generation.

Problems in Communist countries throughout the world over the past 10 years, he said, had forced the Australian Communist Party to begin a serious examination of its policies and theories.

Miss Gibson To Attempt Net Return

EAST ORANGE, N.J. (AP) — Althea Gibson Darben, who rose from a cramped Harlem railroad flat to world fame on the plush courts of Wimbledon and Forest Hills, is returning to tennis.

"I want at least one more crack at Wimbledon as a professional," the 41-year-old former counter girl told The Associated Press.

But Mrs. Darben will continue her dubious courtship with golf, for which she left tennis to challenge eight years ago. She has been less than spectacular during her five years on the ladies' pro tour.

She says she'll attempt a tennis comeback in the Oakland Pro Invitational in California in February. It will be her first major tournament since 1960.

As Althea Gibson, she won both the Wimbledon and U.S. championships in 1957 and 1958, the third woman to accomplish that douule slam, and the first Negro woman ever to win a major tennis title.

Mrs. Darben says she has been practicing five hours a day for the past two weeks near her home in East Orange for the Oakland tourney Feb. 23-26. She says she hopes her performance will result in a pro contract.

"My hands aren't as strong as they used to be and my muscles are sore because they aren't quite as supple," she says. "But I've been through the hard knocks befort and I think I can do it. A friend told me, 'if anyone can do it, you can!' "

Two Kidnapers Identified At Preliminary Hearing

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — U.S. Atty. William Meadows says Barbara Jane Mackle has identified Gary Steven Krist and Ruth Eisemann-Schier as the couple who buried her alive in North Georgia after she was kidnaped.

Meadows' disclosure came Monday during a preliminary hearing at which federal extortion charges were added to the kidnaping counts against Krist and Miss Eisemann-Schier.

Krist, who was captured Sunday on swampy Hog Island off the Florida Gulf Coast, replied "Yes" twice during the hearing when asked if he understood the new charges and his rights.

Miss Eisemann-Schier, described as a 5-foot-3, 26-year-old sometimes blonde of athletic build, is being sought.

There was no explanation of how or when Miss Mackle's identification was made.

The hearing in a heavily guarded room at the Dade County jail in Miami was continued until Jan. 10 to give Krist and an attorney who is temporarily representing him time to study the charges.

Miss Mackle, a 20-year-old Emory University coed and daughter of a wealthy Coral Gables land developer, was kidnaped from an Atlanta motel last Tuesday. Federal Bureau of Investigation agents found her late Friday, buried in a coffin-like box in a shallow pit 20 miles from Atlanta.

FBI agents said Miss Mackle led them to the pit by using her knuckles to rap on the lid of the box.

The kidnapers had telephoned her general location to the FBI after her father paid a $500,000 ransom.

Krist, a Marine researcher, and Miss Eisemann - Schier, a student, worked together at the University of Miami's Institute of Marine Science.

Officers have discounted reports that a third person was involved n the kidnaping.

In Redwood City, Calif., Krist's estranged wife—Carmen Simon Krist—told newsmen her husband "wants to be remembered—to make an impact on the world he lives in."

Mrs. Krist 22, said she left Florida two weeks ago and went to her parents' home in Redwood after Krist told her "he didn't love me. He said he wanted a separation."

"I still love him," she said, "and I don't believe in divorce.

"I don't know the woman they say was involved in this thing with him. It comes as a great shock to me. I think they were together the first time on a two-weeks cruise a few months back."

The cruise in September was a Marine institute trip to Bermuda where Krist, then working under the assumed name George Deacon, drove Miss Eisemann-Schier around on a motor scooter.

had been 1,011 such incidents by midnight Sunday, and U.S. bombers, artillery or warships had opened fire in at least 305 of these. Johnson in announcing his bomb-halt order said abuse of the DMZ might prove a bar to the Vietnam peace talks in Paris, but allies and the Communists are wrangling about such procedural matters as the shape of the conference table, and there is no indication when peace talks will get under way.

American commanders made final preparations for an unprecedented Christmas Day meeting with Viet Cong representatives to discuss the Viet Cong's offer to release three U.S. prisoners of war. The meeting, scheduled for noon Wednesday, is to be held about 50 miles northwest of Saigon and five miles from the Cambodian border.

The U.S. Command said the three are 21-year-old Army enlisted men captured within the last eight months and previously listed as missing. They were identified as Spec. 4 James W. Brigham of Ciala, Fla.; Spec. 4 Thomas N. Jones of Lynnville, Ind., and Pfc. Donald G. Smith of Akron, Pa.

The fighting Monday in the coastal lowlands in which the South claimed 159 of the enemy killed cost the government forces 14 dead and 56 wounded, a spokesman said.

South Vietnamese rangers smashed into a large enemy force 20 miles south of Da Nang, in an area where thousands of allied troops have been sweeping in an attempt to eliminate threats to Da Nang and the coastal lowlands.

2 Sentenced To Life In Pen In Beating Death Of Officer

ELIZABETH, N.J. (AP) — Two Negro defendants, including a woman, have been convicted of first degree murder and sentenced to life in prison in the beating death of a white policeman during 1967 racial disorders.

The jury of 10 men and two women, including one Negro man, Monday night convicted Miss Gail Madden, 22, and George Merritt Jr., 24, and acquitted two other Negroes, Donald Jones, 23, and Howard Brandon, 24.

The verdicts came after more than 53 hours of deliberation. When it was announced several spectators had to be taken, weeping, from the courtroom.

Except for Miss Madden, however, the defendants showed no sign of emotion. Miss Madden wept silently.

The jury was unable to reach a verdict and resumes deliberations today in the case of James Toland, 33.

The five defendants were among 11 Negroes, all of Plainfield, who were charged with murder in the July 16, 1967 slaying of Patrolman John V. Gleason Jr. Gleason died of a beating inflicted by a mob at the height of the racial disorders which swept Plainfield.

During the trial, state witnesses testified that they saw Merritt attack the Plainfield patrolman with a meat cleaver or butcher knife and identified Miss Madden, a large, stocky woman, who weighs more than 250 pounds, as the woman in a bright orange colored dress who was jumping up and down on the officer.

The life sentence normally carries the possibility of parole after about 14 years.

Miss Madden's attorney said he would appeal the verdict.

field near the planes two hours before they left. It was conducted by Lt. Cmdr. Stanton Wilson, chaplain for Navy forces in Korea, and was attended by Bucher, Adm. Edwin M. Rosenberg, in charge of the Pueblo crew's repatriation, and PO 3.C., Ralph E. Reed, 30, of Duncannon, Pa., in whose arms Hodges died.

The casket, draped in a U.S. flag, was carried from a military ambulance by eight Navy men. A platoon of sailors and Marines and about 200 American soldiers and civilians attended the service.

An eight-man honor guard fired three rounds of salute while Taps were blown.

Throughout the ceremony Bucher looked very sad, keeping his head down most of the time.

Rosenberg, who accompanied the crew on the flight, told a news conference earlier the men were in "fair to good condition." They were given preliminary medical checkups and spent the night at the 121st Evacuation Hospital outside Seoul following their release Monday.

Before their departure today the Pueblo men were visited by several top U.S. and South Korean officials, including Premier Chung Il-Kwon.

Chung, U.S. Ambassador William Porter, Philippine Ambassador Benjamin Tirona and several South Korean Cabinet ministers visited Bucher and about 15 of his men.

"We certainly felt the American support," said Lt. Edward R. Murphy Jr., 31, of Berkeley, Calif., the Pueblo's executive officer. "And we tried to do our best where we were."

South Korean newspapers today welcomed the release of the crew but criticized the United States for bowing to North Korea's terms. They said it would encourage North Korea to become more militant and probably result in creased guerrilla activity against South Korea.

"We are disappointed that the strong United States was unable to do anything except to sign a statement prepared by North Korea, a small rat in international politics. Washington should feel responsible for its failure to take action to rescue the crew members," said Dong-A Ilbo.

Although a U.S. representative signed a North Korean statement admitting "grave acts of espionage" were committed by the Pueblo inside North Korea's territorial waters, the American representative repudiated the statement before he signed it and the North Koreans acquiesced in this procedure. Secretary of State Dean Rusk called the statement "a worthless document."

from the Cascades and Sierras to the northern Rockies. Lakeview, in south-central Oregon, shoveled through 16 inches of snow.

Biting gales sweeping the eastern Great Lakes scattered flurries into the Appalachians and dumped heavy snow into western New York and adjacent lake areas. Travelers warnings were issued for eight New York counties pelted by snow and winds up to 50 miles an hour.

The Weather Bureau's Christmas Day outlook indicated more light snow would develop in parts of the Northern Plains and spread eastward into the lower Midwest. The northwestern storm was expected to scatter snow into the entire Rocky Mountain chain.

Gov. Hickel Taps Stevens For Senate

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Theodore Stevens, Republican majority ltader of the Alaska House of Representatives, was named Monday to the U.S. Senate to fill the vacancy created by the Dec. 11 death of Democratic Sen. E.L. Bartlett.

Stevens' appointment, announced in Anchorage by Republican Gov. Walter Hickel, completes a sweeping revision of Alaska's political leadership. Stevens, a 45-year-old Anchorage lawyer, will be the first Republican senator from Alaska.

The party shift will leave the count in the incoming Senate at 57 Democrats and 43 Republicans.

Alaska's political make-up was significantly altered this year, beginning with the primary election defeat of Sen. Ernest Gruening, 81-year-old Democrat. Gruening failed in a write-in bid in the Nov. 5 general election. Anchorage real estate man Mike Gravel, the Democratic primary victor, was elected over the Republican candidate, banker Elmer Rasmuson of Anchorage.

Then, on Dec. 11, President-elect Nixon named Hickel to serve in his Cabinet as secretary of the interior.

Sen. Bartlett, 64, died that night in Cleveland, Ohio, where he recently underwent heart surgery.

Keith Miller, a native of Seattle who moved to Alaska in 1946, takes over the governship from Hickel. A Republican, he currently is Alaska's secretary of state.

Stevens will serve two years in the Senate before a special election in 1970 to fill the remainder of the term to 1972.

Stevens appointment by Hickel gave him a prize he failed to win in election bids twice. He lost the Republican primary earlier this year to Rasmuson, who, in turn, was defeated in November by Gravel.

In 1962, Stevens won the Republican senatorial nomination but lost to Gruening.

Stevens served as an Interior Department counsel from 1960-61 and as assistant to Interior Secretary Fred Seaton for two years previously. He said he would go to Washington as quickly as he could confer with Republican party leaders in Alaska.

Substation Change Set At Wellsville

The Ohio Power Co. has announced plans for a new substation in Wellsville.

It will be located on the site of the former tinplate mill, behind American Legion Post 70, between Route 7 and the Ohio River.

Relocation of Route 7 made the move necessary.

Details will be announced later, officials at the Steubenville office of the utility said.

Plenty Of Cod Fish

LISBON (AP) — Portuguese have been officially reassured that there will be plenty of bacalhau (dried cod fish) on the market for the rest of the year.

There had been reports of a possible shortage of the national dish, which would be roughly equivalent to a shortage of spaghetti in Italy. A period of high prices started the alarm.

Now official agencies have said that there will be enough bacalhau for the next nine months, and pointed out that production of the boardlike, salted fish actually increased 23 per cent during the first seven months of this year.

Two Kidnapers Identified At Preliminary Hearing

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — U.S. Atty. William Meadows says Barbara Jane Mackle has identified Gary Steven Krist and Ruth Eisemann-Schier as the couple who buried her alive in North Georgia after she was kidnaped.

Meadows' disclosure came Monday during a preliminary hearing at which federal extortion charges were added to the kidnaping counts against Krist and Miss Eisemann-Schier.

Krist, who was captured Sunday on swampy Hog Island off the Florida Gulf Coast, replied "Yes" twice during the hearing when asked if he understood the new charges and his rights.

Miss Eisemann-Schier, described as a 5-foot-3, 26-year-old sometimes blonde of athletic build, is being sought.

There was no explanation of how or when Miss Mackle's identification was made.

The hearing in a heavily guarded room at the Dade County jail in Miami was continued until Jan. 10 to give Krist and an attorney who is temporarily representing him time to study the charges.

Miss Mackle, a 20-year-old Emory University coed and daughter of a wealthy Coral Gables land developer, was kidnaped from an Atlanta motel last Tuesday. Federal Bureau of Investigation agents found her late Friday, buried in a coffin-like box in a shallow pit 20 miles from Atlanta.

FBI agents said Miss Mackle led them to the pit by using her knuckles to rap on the lid of the box.

The kidnapers had telephoned her general location to the FBI after her father paid a $500,000 ransom.

Krist, a Marine researcher, and Miss Eisemann - Schier, a student, worked together at the University of Miami's Institute of Marine Science.

Officers have discounted reports that a third person was involved n the kidnaping.

In Redwood City, Calif., Krist's estranged wife—Carmen Simon Krist—told newsmen her husband "wants to be remembered—to make an impact on the world he lives in."

Mrs. Krist 22, said she left Florida two weeks ago and went to her parents' home in Redwood after Krist told her "he didn't love me. He said he wanted a separation."

"I still love him," she said, "and I don't believe in divorce.

"I don't know the woman they say was involved in this thing with him. It comes as a great shock to me. I think they were together the first time on a two-weeks cruise a few months back."

The cruise in September was a Marine institute trip to Bermuda where Krist, then working under the assumed name George Deacon, drove Miss Eisemann-Schier around on a motor scooter.

had been 1,011 such incidents by midnight Sunday, and U.S. bombers, artillery or warships had opened fire in at least 305 of these. Johnson in announcing his bomb-halt order said abuse of the DMZ might prove a bar to the Vietnam peace talks in Paris, but allies and the Communists are wrangling about such procedural matters as the shape of the conference table, and there is no indication when peace talks will get under way.

American commanders made final preparations for an unprecedented Christmas Day meeting with Viet Cong representatives to discuss the Viet Cong's offer to release three U.S. prisoners of war. The meeting, scheduled for noon Wednesday, is to be held about 50 miles northwest of Saigon and five miles from the Cambodian border.

The U.S. Command said the three are 21-year-old Army enlisted men captured within the last eight months and previously listed as missing. They were identified as Spec. 4 James W. Brigham of Oiala, Fla.; Spec. 4 Thomas N. Jones of Lynnville, Ind., and Pfc. Donald G. Smith of Akron, Pa.

2 Sentenced To Life In Pen In Beating Death Of Officer

ELIZABETH, N.J. (AP) — Two Negro defendants, including a woman, have been convicted of first degree murder and sentenced to life in prison in the beating death of a white policeman during 1967 racial disorders.

The jury of 10 men and two women, including one Negro man, Monday night convicted Miss Gail Madden, 22, and George Merritt Jr., 24, and acquitted two other Negroes, Donald Jones, 23, and Howard Brandon, 24.

The verdicts came after more than 53 hours of deliberation. When it was announced several spectators had to be taken, weeping, from the courtroom.

Except for Miss Madden, however, the defendants showed no sign of emotion. Miss Madden wept silently.

The jury was unable to reach a verdict and resumes deliberations today in the case of James Toland, 33.

The five defendants were among 11 Negroes, all of Plainfield, who were charged with murder in the July 16, 1967 slaying of Patrolman John V. Gleason Jr. Gleason died of a beating inflicted by a mob at the height of the racial disorders which swept Plainfield.

During the trial, state witnesses testified that they saw Merritt attack the Plainfield patrolman with a meat cleaver or butcher knife and identified Miss Madden, a large, stocky woman, who weighs more than 250 pounds, as the woman in a bright orange colored dress who was jumping up and down on the officer.

The life sentence normally carries the possibility of parole after about 14 years.

Miss Madden's attorney said he would appeal the verdict.

field near the planes two hours before they left. It was conducted by Lt. Cmdr. Stanton Wilson, chaplain for Navy forces in Korea, and was attended by Bucher, Adm. Edwin M. Rosenberg, in charge of the Pueblo crew's repatriation, and PO 3.C., Ralph E. Reed, 30, of Duncannon, Pa., in whose arms Hodges died.

The casket, draped in a U.S. flag, was carried from a military ambulance by eight Navy men. A platoon of sailors and Marines and about 200 American soldiers and civilians attended the service.

An eight-man honor guard fired three rounds of salute while Taps were blown.

Throughout the ceremony Bucher looked very sad, keeping his head down most of the time.

Rosenberg, who accompanied the crew on the flight, told a news conference earlier the men were in "fair to good condition." They were given preliminary medical checkups and spent the night at the 121st Evacuation Hospital outside Seoul following their release Monday.

Before their departure today the Pueblo men were visited by several top U.S. and South Korean officials, including Premier Chung Il-Kwon.

Chung, U.S. Ambassador William Porter, Philippine Ambassador Benjamin Tirona and several South Korean Cabinet ministers visited Bucher and about 15 of his men.

"We certainly felt the American support," said Lt. Edward R. Murphy Jr., 31, of Berkeley, Calif., the Pueblo's executive officer. "And we tried to do our best where we were."

South Korean newspapers today welcomed the release of the crew but criticized the United States for bowing to North Korea's terms. They said it would encourage North Korea to become more militant and probably result in creased guerrilla activity against South Korea.

"We are disappointed that the strong United States was unable to do anything except to sign a statement prepared by North Korea, a small rat in international politics. Washington should feel responsible for its failure to take action to rescue the crew members," said Dong-A Ilbo.

Although a U.S. representative signed a North Korean statement admitting "grave acts of espionage" were committed by the Pueblo inside North Korea's territorial waters, the American representative repudiated the statement before he signed it and the North Koreans acquiesced in this procedure. Secretary of State Dean Rusk called the statement "a worthless document."

Biting gales sweeping the eastern Great Lakes scattered flurries into the Appalachians and dumped heavy snow into western New York and adjacent lake areas. Travelers warnings were issued for eight New York counties pelted by snow and winds up to 50 miles an hour.

The Weather Bureau's Christmas Day outlook indicated more light snow would develop in parts of the Northern Plains and spread eastward into the lower Midwest. The northwestern storm was expected to scatter snow into the entire Rocky Mountain chain.

Gov. Hickel Taps Stevens For Senate

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Theodore Stevens, Republican majority ltader of the Alaska House of Representatives, was named Monday to the U.S. Senate to fill the vacancy created by the Dec. 11 death of Democratic Sen. E.L. Bartlett.

Stevens' appointment, announced in Anchorage by Republican Gov. Walter Hickel, completes a sweeping revision of Alaska's political leadership. Stevens, a 45-year-old Anchorage lawyer, will be the first Republican senator from Alaska.

The party shift will leave the count in the incoming Senate at 57 Democrats and 43 Republicans.

Alaska's political make-up was significantly altered this year, beginning with the primary election defeat of Sen. Ernest Gruening, 81-year-old Democrat. Gruening failed in a write-in bid in the Nov. 5 general election. Anchorage real estate man Mike Gravel, the Democratic primary victor, was elected over the Republican candidate, banker Elmer Rasmuson of Anchorage.

Then, on Dec. 11, President-elect Nixon named Hickel to serve in his Cabinet as secretary of the interior.

Sen. Bartlett, 64, died that night in Cleveland, Ohio, where he recently underwent heart surgery.

Keith Miller, a native of Seattle who moved to Alaska in 1946, takes over the governship from Hickel. A Republican, he currently is Alaska's secretary of state.

Stevens will serve two years in the Senate before a special election in 1970 to fill the remainder of the term to 1972.

Stevens appointment by Hickel gave him a prize he failed to win in election bids twice. He lost the Republican primary earlier this year to Rasmuson, who, in turn, was defeated in November by Gravel.

In 1962, Stevens won the Republican senatorial nomination but lost to Gruening.

Stevens served as an Interior Department counsel from 1960-61 and as assistant to Interior Secretary Fred Seaton for two years previously. He said he would go to Washington as quickly as he could confer with Republican party leaders in Alaska.

Four Bridges Held 'Subject To Closing'

CINCINNATI (AP)—A bridge report shows that four of the five Ohio River spans linking Cincinnati to Northern Kentucky with a daily traffic flow of at least 150,000 are "functionally obsolete" and "subject to closing now", the Cincinnati Enquirer said it learned.

The morning newspaper in today's editions said, "Evaluation of the existing bridges was circulated over the signature of James W. Fehr, director of the Kentucky Highway Department's division of planning."

The four bridges are the Suspension, L & N, Central and C & O. Only the Brent Spence span was not included withi the report. The C & O bridge was temporarily closed Nov. 9.

The Equirer said the report states that the bridges already have outlived their normal life expectancy and that "no accurate forecast can be made on their future life or possible closure dates."

The evaluation report, according to the newspaper, was sent to about a dozen officials—"most of them connected with the Kentucky Highway Department or agencies with which the department has relations."

Charles Ball, executive director of the Ohio-Kentucky-Indiana Regional Transportation and Development Plan, reportedly was one of those who received a copy of the evaluation study. The Enquirer said Ball noted that top priority is being given planning replacements for the bridges.

Court Rules Against Inmates At State Pen

LISBON — Seventh District Court of Appeals rulings returned Monday to Common Pleas Court went against two Columbiana County prisoners in Ohio State Penitentiary.

The court sustained the state's motion to dismiss the appeal of Walter K. Bell, sentenced in 1961 to 1 to 20 years for forging a $30 check in East Liverpool.

Also sustained was the state's demurrer to Joseph A. Howell's petition that the Appelate Court order Common Pleas Court to furnish him all the records in his case. Howell and John L. Welch were sentenced to life imprisonment in 1939 for the Wellsville murder of George J. Culp, streetcar motorman.

The court said Bell, twice turned down by Common Pleas Court on petitions to vacate his sentence, did not file his appeal within the statutory 30-day period after denial.

Howell has exhausted his appellate remedies and has no pending appeal from his conviction so he is not entitled to copies of the records of his case, the tribunal ruled.

Bell is in the Marion Correctional Institute and Howell is at the penitentiary's London branch.

The Court of Appeals upheld the judgment of County Eastern Court at East Palestine against the appeal of Don Franklin Bramer of 3057 S. Meridian Rd., Youngstown, convicted last march of driving while under the influence of alcohol. Bramer appealed directly to the Court of Appeals without going through Common Pleas Court.

Proceedings in a Bureau of Workmen's Compensation case are being held in obeyance pending final determination of a case of similar nature in the Ohio Supreme Court. The appellate judges said this is by agreement of the parties — Dorothy Graham, the widow - claimant, and BWC and Sikore Bros. Excavating, the defendants.

Fire Strikes At Area Home

No one was injured in a fire at the Cecil Maple home, Irondale RD 1, Monday morning which resulted when kerosene or gasoline was used to start a blaze in a coal stove and the stove exploded.

Wellsville Chief Robert Lewis said volunteer firemen received the call at 7:45 a. m.

Damage to the contents was estimated at $250. There was no damage to the home itself, firemen said.

Eight volunteers answered the call.

Lewis said one of the Wellsville pumper trucks is at Sugar Creek for repair and only one remains on the floor for use at the present time.

He took the truck in for repair at 5 p.m. Monday.

The East Liverpool department has been alerted and will offer assistance through the mutual aid agreement if needed, Lewis said.

Santa Distributes Gifts To Foster Home Group

LISBON — Six employes in the child welfare section of the Columbiana County Welfare Department today completed taking gifts to children in the foster home program.

Donald P. Hepp of Columbiana, county welfare director, said gifts were obtained for 186 boys and girls.

Early in November, the Welfare Department appealed to individuals and organizations for financial help. Contributions totaled approximately $3,000, compared with the $2,000 goal, Hepp said.

HE SAID the surplus will be used during the year to remember the children on special occasions. He mentioned birthdays, high school graduation, class rings for high school juniors and yearbooks for students.

Each child was asked to send in a list of three gifts in order of preference. "Through the cooperation of county merchants who let us have items at cost, we were able to get each child the gift preferred," Hepp said.

Mrs. Mildred Ashbridge of East Palestine, supervisor of the child welfare section, was in charge of the gift program. Caseworkers purchased, wrapped and distributed the presents.

Most of the gifts were delivered last week so the parents could hide them while the children were in school. The last items were delivered today.

PRESENTS ranged in size from toboggans to squeeze toys for the playpen. One child's first choice was a Bible. Hepp said he could not recall any real unusual gift requests this year—just the usual assortment of toys, tricycles, dolls, wagons, radios, watches and clothing.

Last year, a boy wished for a set of muskrat traps and the yea before one asked for a pig. Both wishes were granted.

FLOWERCHILDREN should appreciate this evening outfit which features trousers and hip-length blouse covered with three-dimensional flowers. The costume, designed by George Halley, was shown in New York as a spring item.

Paul

chance of accepting the organ, the physicians said.

Paul's father took off from his work at the Homer Laughlin China Co. today because of the impending surgery. Three of his brothers were with him throughout the night at the hospital and remained there today. They are Wayne Harris and Danny Harris, servicemen on emergency leaves, and Henry Harris of the Chester - Newell Rd.

Doctors told the family the 9-year-old boy has a "pretty good" chance of surviving the surgery and that he will be in the recovery room for at least 10 days. The major question of survival turns on whether or not Paul's body accepts or rejects the transplant, but physicians said the chances are good because of the similarities in blood type, tissue and other factors.

THE LAST word Mrs. McCraw received from the hospital was that the transplant operation could take place "anytime today, tonight, or possibly tomorrow." But the strongest possibility is that the operation will be today, she said.

Paul's life expectancy was figured in weeks when he entered the hospital early this month. Physicians said his life could be maintained only by regular treatments on an artificial kidney machine. The machine has kept him alive in hopes a transplant would be available.

Mrs. McCraw said her son's condition now is termed relatively good because his blood has been cleansed by the treatments.

Meanwhile, donations have continued to pour in from throughout the tri-state region to aid the family with its hospital bill. The figure stands today at $1,750 and it still is growing.

PAUL'S MOTHER has not seen him since Dec. 15, when she was stricken with flu. She said she still has not recovered entirely and probably will not go to the hospital tomorrow, as she fears she would expose him to the virus.

Because of the approach of Christmas, Paul received his semi-weekly treatment Monday on the artificial kidney machine at the Veterans Administration hospital. Normally, he would have received the treatment today.

Doctors talked with Paul's father late last week about the possibility of a kidney transplant.

Paul has not expressed any desire for any special toy for Christmas, his mother said, other than the tricycle that already has been delivered to his home.

PAUL'S TWO brothers in the armed forces still are at home on emergency leaves. He has been visited regularly by them and other members of the family — as well as his father — but the flu has kept his mother away from the hospital for nine days.

Told of the continuing growth of the "Paul McCraw Fund," she said: "I think it's just wonderful. Words cannot express our gratitude to all the good people who have helped."

Many more group donations have arrived in the last few days as the result of collections taken in potteries and offices and neighborhood canvasses by youngsters. Sunday School classes and other groups also have contributed.

SOME OF the larger donations, previously unreported, are: Hall China Co. employes, office help and management, $166; Ceramic Playrites (proceeds of a performance of "A Christmas Carol) $50; W. C. Bunting Co., $22; L. G. Club of Boyce Methodist Church, $5; Glenmoor American Legion Post 736, $25; Loyal Daughters Class of Hammondsville Methodist Church, $5; a collection made in LaCroft by Kevan Bowemn, Donald Wolfe and Virgil Backus, $35.34.

Mark and Martin Palmer of Densmore Ave., a neighborhood collection, $7.64; Blue Birds of St. Aloysius School, $2; Miriam Circle of Pennsylvania Ave. United Methodist Church, $25; neighborhood collection by an unidentified boy about 10, $9.60; Herbert Hackney's eighth grade study hall at East Junior High School, $8.

Crucible Steel finishing mills, $23; Penny and Tammy Monroe of Newell Heights, a neighborhood collection, $20.01; a Sunday School class of the Church of God, $11.15; 14 North Elementary School students, proceeds from a caroling trip Saturday night, $21.17.

Women of the Moose Chapter 642, East Liverpool, $5; neighborhood collection in LaCroft area by Rhonda and Jimmy Sanford and Bobby Potts, $23.55; Highlandtown Grange No. 1906, $10; pupils in Room 117 at Chester Primary School, Mrs. Wilma Plotts, teacher, $20.20. Employes of Bricker's Isaly Dairy contributed $25 direct to the family.

ONE CONTRIBUTION was found in a card in the Christmas tree in the lobby at The Review.

The sheer volume of the donations has been enormous, because most are in the form of $1 bills enclosed in Christmas cards. A high per centage of the contributions has been made anonymously.

The shop collections and door-to-door canvasses brought in coins literally by the hundreds. One Hall China Co. donation, for instance, was brought to the newspaper office in a three - pound coffee can.

3-Way Crash Injures Man

A Newell motorist escaped with slight injuries Monday afternoon in a freak, three-way traffic accident on Anderson Blvd. at Park Way, police reported.

Larry Simmons of 500 Washington St. was inspecting damage that occurred to his car after it was hit from behind by another auto. Then a skidding wrecker truck struck the rear of one of the halted autos and shoved it against the other, injuring Simmons, police reported.

The Newell man suffered contusions of the back. He was X-rayed at City Hospital and released.

Police said the chain of circumstances began when Simmons halted 1967 two-door sedan was struck from the rear by a 1967 four-door sedan operated by Vida L. Griffin of Dixonville. Simmons had halted for a traffic signal at the intersection when the Griffin auto skidded on icy pavement.

Simmons alighted from his auto and was inspecting the damage at the rear when the Triffin auto was struck by a 1964 model wrecker truck owned by Rogers Sunoco Service at E. 6th St. and Broadway and driven by John Richard Sullivan, 22, of 1534 Globe St., officers said. Sullivan blamed the collision on icy pavement. The mishap was timed at 3:28.

U.S. Approves Grant To Curb Pollutants

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Federal officials have approved a $337,099 grant for a demonstration Lake County project at reducing pollutants being discharged into Lake Erie.

The process, tried successfully in Europe, uses high temperatures and pressures to break up sludge which inders efficient waste treatment. It will be the first use of the process in Ohio and its second use in the nation.

Lake County is under state orders to convert its Mentor and Madison waste treatment plants from primary to secondary treatment processes. County officials had estimated cost of the convention at $572,000, but said the demonstration project, if successful, could cut the cost to about $150,000 by 1971.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture estimates the value of birds in destroying insects at $350 million annually.

For October-December Quarter

Sizeable Increase Seen In Gross National Product

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Commerce Department says there will be a "sizable increase" in the gross national product for the fourth quarter this year despite government efforts to hold down the economy's inflationary rate of expansion.

The increase in the October-December quarter, was not given in exact figures but estimated as "not much different from the rise in the third," when the revved up economy confounded the economists with a NP increase of $18.1 billion to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $871 billion.

Government economists had hoped the third-quarter GNP, which represents the market value of all the nation's goods and services and thus provides a convenient widow on the economy's inflation problems, would move up no more than about $12 billion.

When it went steaming past this target, Chairman Arthur M. Okun of the Council of Economic Advisers noted it was at least lower than the record $21.7 jump during the second quarter.

And it was thoroughly consistent with prospects of a continued slowdown in the fourth quarter," Okun said.

This was not the case, however.

Much of the juice powering the unexpectedly strong showing of the GNP in the fourth quarter, the Commerce Department said in its monthly "Survey of Current Business," comes from business spending for new plant and equipment.

Expenditures for housing, inventory investment and outlays by state and local governments are also running strong, the review said.

When administration planners drew up the scenario for the fourth quarter and the opening months of 1969 they figured business conditions would be substantially tighter because of the 10 per cent income tax surcharge.

But businessmen have made major outlays for new machines, buildings and other means of increasing output.

To many observers, this bullishness appears to spring from an inflation psychology that counsels the businessman to spend now because if he waits a few months or a year his new factory will probably cost more —a lot more.

Actual expenditures often fall short of anticipations but "the fact remains that business seems to have embarked on a new round of investment spending which will have important stimulating effects on an economy operating at very high employment rates," the department said.

Because it was prepared in advance of last week's increase in the Federal Reserve discount rate, the "Survey" article did not reflect this change, which will probably eliminate some business borrowing by making it too expensive.

The boost in the rate Federal Reserve district banks charge on loans to commercial banks was approved at midweek and symptoms of tighter credit followed almost immediately.

The most noticeable was a leap upward in the discount on 13-week and six-month Treasury bills, major indicators of monetary tightness, to record levels last Friday.

New highs were reached Monday by two more Treasury issues. Though it has the best credit rating in the land, the government was able to borrow $1.5 billion through the sale of nine-month and one-year bills only by agreeing to pay interest charges equivalent to 6.84 per cent.

Carols Fill The Air In Courthouse Party

LISBON — Courthouse employes sang carols Monday afternoon around their Christmas tree in the main hallway.

Edna Ray, commissioners' clerk, presided, and Esther Smith, deputy clerk in Probate Court, was song leader.

The Rev. Paul T. Gerrard of the First United Presbyterian Church offered a Christmas message and led closing prayer. The Courthouse and County Welfare Department building closed at noon today. Offices will reopen Thursday morning.

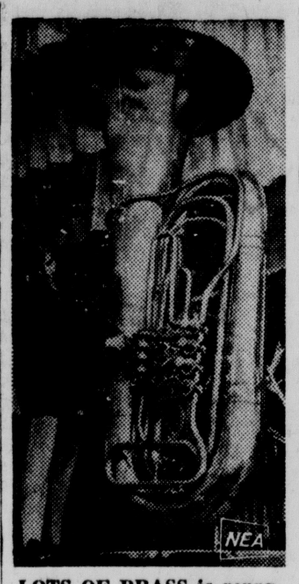
Hit-And-Run Mishap Reported In Hancock

The Hancock County sheriff's office reported a hit-and-run accident Monday at 3:15 p. m. on Route 2 about 150 feet north of the Newell Bridge.

Clyde Johnson, 65, of Snow Hill Rd., Newell, said he was traveling north beyond the intersection of the bridge when a car appeared in the same lane of traffic, sideswiping him on the left side. The investigation by the sheriff's office is incomplete. Damage to Johnson's 1964 vehicle was estimated at $250.

Hog, Pig, Report Set

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Crop Reporting Service reported Monday a total of 2.6 million hogs and pigs in Ohio as of Dec. 1, up one per cent over Dec. 1, 1967.



LOTS OF BRASS is represented here. It's a giant bass tuba on display in Kraslice, a Czechoslovakian town noted for its production of musical instruments. The huge horn stands about nine feet high and if straightened out would be about 40 feet long.

Judge Penalizes 3 Area Motorists

Two motorists were fined, one was cleared of a speeding charge and a fourth forfeited a bond in County Judge Barry Dickson's court at East Palestine Monday.

Gene Allen Rose of the Calcutta-Cannons Mills Rd. was fined $25 and costs and Sandra J. Pridemore of MC 19 was fined $20 and costs on combined charges of speeding and failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

John James Jr. of East Liverpool RD 1 was found not guilty of speeding.

Arthur L. Grossen of East Palestine forfeited a $20 appearance bond on a speeding charge.

Gas Rate To Rise

LISBON — Columbia Gas of Ohio's new rate ordinance will go into effect here Thursday, bringing an increase of about $1 per month for the average user. Council approved the four-year contract Nov. 26.

13 Churches Take Part In Teen Meeting

Thirteen churches were represented at the first meeting of the "Teens For Christ" Saturday night in the Calcutta fire hall.

Dan Skidmore was master of ceremonies, Bob Pelley led group singing and Jo Dell Sanford led prayer.

Four selections were sung by "The Crusaders," the Rev. Paul Brookes discussed "The Meaning of Christmas."

Games were supervised by John Weir and refreshments were served by a committee headed by Ethel Richman.

The next rally will be Jan. 25. A planning committee session will be held Sunday.

Man Will Spend His Yule In Jail

LISBON — Larry Blake, 29, of Beaver Falls will spend Christmas in the County Jail here — but it could have been the penitentiary.

Blake admitted to Judge Joel H. Sharp in Common Pleas Court violation of terms of probation granted in 1965 and was sentenced to 30 days in jail. However, the court gave him credit for time in jail while awaiting a hearing, so Blake will complete the sentence Sunday.

The September 1964 Grand Jury indicted him on a charge of statutory rape. He pleaded guilty. His violation of probation consisted of getting married without the consent of the probation officer and leaving the area without the officer's knowledge. The court found Blake has supported his wife and child.

2 Treated At Hospital For Injuries At Home

Two were treated at City Hospital for injuries received at home.

Robert McDaniel of 652 Broadview Circle suffered a lacerated lip when hit with a paddle while playing tennis and Gloria Williams, daughter of Homer Williams of 945 Pennsylvania Ave., lacerated her left second finger with a knife.

For October-December Quarter

Sizeable Increase Seen In Gross National Product

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Commerce Department says there will be a "sizable increase" in the gross national product for the fourth quarter this year despite government efforts to hold down the economy's inflationary rate of expansion.

The increase in the October-December quarter, was not given in exact figures but estimated as "not much different from the rise in the third," when the revved up economy confounded the economists with a NP increase of $18.1 billion to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $871 billion.

Government economists had hoped the third-quarter GNP, which represents the market value of all the nation's goods and services and thus provides a convenient widow on the economy's inflation problems, would move up no more than about $12 billion.

When it went steaming past this target, Chairman Arthur M. Okun of the Council of Economic Advisers noted it was at least lower than the record $21.7 jump during the second quarter.

And it was thoroughly consistent with prospects of a continued slowdown in the fourth quarter," Okun said.

This was not the case, however.

Much of the juice powering the unexpectedly strong showing of the GNP in the fourth quarter, the Commerce Department said in its monthly "Survey of Current Business," comes from business spending for new plant and equipment.

Expenditures for housing, inventory investment and outlays by state and local governments are also running strong, the review said.

When administration planners drew up the scenario for the fourth quarter and the opening months of 1969 they figured business conditions would be substantially tighter because of the 10 per cent income tax surcharge.

But businessmen have made major outlays for new machines, buildings and other means of increasing output.

To many observers, this bullishness appears to spring from an inflation psychology that counsels the businessman to spend now because if he waits a few months or a year his new factory will probably cost more —a lot more.

Actual expenditures often fall short of anticipations but "the fact remains that business seems to have embarked on a new round of investment spending which will have important stimulating effects on an economy operating at very high employment rates," the department said.

Because it was prepared in advance of last week's increase in the Federal Reserve discount rate, the "Survey" article did not reflect this change, which will probably eliminate some business borrowing by making it too expensive.

The boost in the rate Federal Reserve district banks charge on loans to commercial banks was approved at midweek and symptoms of tighter credit followed almost immediately.

The most noticeable was a leap upward in the discount on 13-week and six-month Treasury bills, major indicators of monetary tightness, to record levels last Friday.

New highs were reached Monday by two more Treasury issues. Though it has the best credit rating in the land, the government was able to borrow $1.5 billion through the sale of nine-month and one-year bills only by agreeing to pay interest charges equivalent to 6.84 per cent.

Carols Fill The Air In Courthouse Party

LISBON — Courthouse employes sang carols Monday afternoon around their Christmas tree in the main hallway.

Edna Ray, commissioners' clerk, presided, and Esther Smith, deputy clerk in Probate Court, was song leader.

The Rev. Paul T. Gerrard of the First United Presbyterian Church offered a Christmas message and led closing prayer. The Courthouse and County Welfare Department building closed at noon today. Offices will reopen Thursday morning.

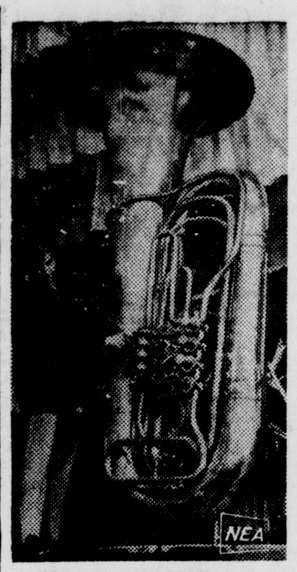
Hit-And-Run Mishap Reported In Hancock

The Hancock County sheriff's office reported a hit-and-run accident Monday at 3:15 p. m. on Route 2 about 150 feet north of the Newell Bridge.

Clyde Johnson, 65, of Snow Hill Rd., Newell, said he was traveling north beyond the intersection of the bridge when a car appeared in the same lane of traffic, sideswiping him on the left side. The investigation by the sheriff's office is incomplete. Damage to Johnson's 1964 vehicle was estimated at $250.

Hog, Pig, Report Set

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Crop Reporting Service reported Monday a total of 2.6 million hogs and pigs in Ohio as of Dec. 1, up one per cent over Dec. 1, 1967.



LOTS OF BRASS is represented here. It's a giant bass tuba on display in Kraslice, a Czechoslovakian town noted for its production of musical instruments. The huge horn stands about nine feet high and if straightened out would be about 40 feet long.

Judge Penalizes 3 Area Motorists

Two motorists were fined, one was cleared of a speeding charge and a fourth forfeited a bond in County Judge Barry Dickson's court at East Palestine Monday.

Gene Allen Rose of the Calcutta-Cannons Mills Rd. was fined $25 and costs and Sandra J. Pridemore of MC 19 was fined $20 and costs on combined charges of speeding and failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

John James Jr. of East Liverpool RD 1 was found not guilty of speeding.

Arthur L. Grossen of East Palestine forfeited a $20 appearance bond on a speeding charge.

13 Churches Take Part In Teen Meeting

Thirteen churches were represented at the first meeting of the "Teens For Christ" Saturday night in the Calcutta fire hall.

Dan Skidmore was master of ceremonies, Bob Pelley led group singing and Jo Dell Sanford led prayer.

Four selections were sung by "The Crusaders," the Rev. Paul Brookes discussed "The Meaning of Christmas."

Games were supervised by John Weir and refreshments were served by a committee headed by Ethel Richman.

The next rally will be Jan. 25. A planning committee session will be held Sunday.

Man Will Spend His Yule In Jail

LISBON — Larry Blake, 29, of Beaver Falls will spend Christmas in the County Jail here — but it could have been the penitentiary.

Blake admitted to Judge Joel H. Sharp in Common Pleas Court violation of terms of probation granted in 1965 and was sentenced to 30 days in jail. However, the court gave him credit for time in jail while awaiting a hearing, so Blake will complete the sentence Sunday.

The September 1964 Grand Jury indicted him on a charge of statutory rape. He pleaded guilty. His violation of probation consisted of getting married without the consent of the probation officer and leaving the area without the officer's knowledge. The court found Blake has supported his wife and child.

ANN LANDERS

People-Animal Pattern?

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: A group of us were sitting around the other evening talking about the behavioral patterns of animals. Mr. T said all his life he has run into people who not only look like certain animals but they possess the behavorial characteristics of those animals.

I got to thinking about my own family and he's right. My sister not only looks like a cat, but she's lazy and completely selfish.

My brother, who bears a strong resemblance to a fox (pointed ears and reddish hair), is an extremely shrewd operator, sly and cunning.

An aunt of mine looks so much like a rabbit her friends nicknamed her "Bunny." She has milk-white skin, pinkish eyes and her nose twitches constantly. (Incidentally, she had nine children.)

My sister-in-law looks like a cow. She weighs at least 180 pounds and always is chewing on something. She has large brown eyes and an empty, expressionless face. Nothing, but absolutely nothing, is going on in her head.

After examining several of your pictures, Ann, I've decided you look like a lamb. I hope you don't consider this an insult. I didn't mean it that way.

Comment, please. — BRAIN JOGGLER.

Dear Brain: So you think I look like a lamb, do you? Well, considering the wealth of other possibilities, I didn't come out ba--aa--aaaa--d Thank ewe!

$-$4 — Close the Tap

Dear Ann: I'm a secretary in a busy, aggressive firm. We do a great deal of entertaining of executives from other cities and I'm always included.

Don't get the idea I'm a party girl. Nothing could be further from the truth. I'm 24 and happily married to a wonderful man. When the firm entertains, my husband is always with me.

The problem is, I drink too much. I'm not an alcoholic but once I get going I don't know when to stop. This has been going on for about two years.

Yesterday I found out for sure that I'm pregnant. Both my husband and I are thrilled. I don't want my husband to know it but I'm worried about whether or not my drinking will affect the unborn child. I'm in good health and never have been sick except for the hangovers.

Please tell me what your medical consultants say about this. — PINK AND BLUE.

Dear P And B: A pregnant woman who drinks instead of eating could injure her unborn child by robbing that child of proper nutrition.

Talk to your obstetrician about your drinking and take his advice. If you have a tendency to get as stiff as your letter indicates, he might suggest you put the cork in the bottle for the duration of your pregnancy. Falling is always a hazard for pregnant women — even sober ones.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Does Your Mother Smoke?

More Mail Miscellany

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Even before you are born smoking can stunt your growth. That is, if your mother smokes. A British medical study found that women who smoked had babies weighing six ounces less on the average than those born to nonsmoking mothers. But if a woman gave up smoking early in her pregnancy her baby was usually of average weight.

It has been estimated that eight square blocks of fog, piled 100 feet deep, consists of less than one large glass of water.

How much life will you have left in you when Uncle Sam starts paying you retirement money at the age of 65? Well, if you're a man in reasonable health, you should last anoher 13 years; if you're a woman, 16.4 years.

One of the things about women that puzzles doctors is why they can tolerate—and in fact enjoy—a bath temperature five degrees higher than that preferred by men. On the other hand, when they are not taking a bath, men are usually in hot water more often than women.

How long should you leave your Christmas tree up? Well, sentiment is usually the ruling factor, but the truth is that after five days indoors any evergreen tree becomes increasingly a fire hazard.

Quotable notables: "Nobody can live without loving somebody, nobody can love without leaving somebody "— Noel Coward.

Cleanliness may be next to godliness, but daily showers actually remove only about seven per cent of the bacteria on your body. Those who scrub themselves with brush or wash cloth, says Dr. Ralph C. Richards, Utah surgery professor, "Irritate the skin and may invite greater bacterial invasion than would have been present had they never washed at all." Hippies have been trying to tell us this all along.

History lesson: Can you identify the U.S. presidents who bore the following nicknames: "Pointed Arrow," "veto President," "stuffed Prophet," and "Houdini in the White House"? They were Andrew Jackson, Andrew Johnson, Grover Cleveland and Franklin D. Roosevelt.

It was Mark Twain who observerd, "Noise proves nothing. Often a hen who has merely laid an egg cackles as if she had laid an asteroid."

Nixon Seen Preventing Recurrence Of Pueblo

WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect Nixon would prevent a recurrence of the capture of the U.S. intelligence-gathering ship Pueblo by providing more and better protection for such vessels, according to his last recorded statements on the matter.

In views expressed before and during the presidential campaign, and not publicly changed since, Nixon stated:

"I say that wherever we have —and we must have ships of this type gathering intelligence so that we will not have a surprise attack—let us make sure that we have in the area other ships or planes that can come to the rescue of such a ship in the event that it comes under attack."

Soon after North Korea captured the Pueblo and its 83-man crew last January, Nixon said, "What we can do is not let this happen again."

However, Nixon stopped short during the campaign of proposing that spy ships be given escort and air cover at all times.

Nixon's view has been challenged by Johnson administration officials, spokesmen and defense officials.

Because of the secret nature of their assignments, the spy ships cannot always be kept in the range of American naval and air units, they say.

Former Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, current Defense chief Clark M. Clifford and Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joints Chiefs of Staff, all have opposed the idea of naval escort or a jet fighter cover for intelligence ships.

Clifford said last September: "You have a ship like the Pueblo there to engage in a certain important function, that is, the gathering of information that comes over the airways. . .

"It can't be part of a large flotilla of naval vessels because that would destroy the purpose for why it's there. You can't keep a cap of fighter planes over it. That again would destroy its effectiveness."

Wheeler testified for Congress that the cost of escorting ships like the Pueblo would be "extremely high."

In some cases, Wheeler said, it would require carrier task forces "deployed thousands of miles from our shores in order to protect the vessel, which should be able to proceed freely on the high seas in accordance with international law."

In criticizing the Johnson administration's handling of the Pueblo situation soon after the capture of the ship Nixon said that "We should have either moved in with cover for the ship or we should have pulled it out of there."

Defense Deparment offcials said that at the time, only 18 U.S. Air force jets were in the Pueblo's area and they could not have been put in the air in time to have helped.

There were no American naval units near enough to have aided the spy ship either, the officials said.

Only after the Pueblo was grabbed by the North Koreans did the United States dispatch carriers and other powerful fighting units into the waters off Korea.

Israeli Warplanes Pummel Arabs Inside Jordan Again

BETHLEHEM (AP) — Israeli warplanes pummelled Arab guerrillas inside Jordan again today while 80 miles to the south in the birthplace of Christ yuletide preparations approached their climax.

The planes smashed at Al Fatah saboteurs the Israelis said were based in the abandoned village of Manshiya, facing the Beisan Valley just south of the Sea of Galilee.

The Israeli army charged the Arabs fired rockets and light arms at an Israeli patrol on the Jordan River ceasefire line at 7:30 a.m.

Heavy smoke could be seen as the Israeli jets swept through a driving rain. Israeli tanks also fired at the village.

No Israeli casualties were reported.

It was the third time in a week the Israeli Air Force has sent one or two planes over Jordan to attack positions from which the Israelis claim the Arab guerrillas have been attacking Israel.

Meanwhile, thousands of Christian pilgrims ignored Arab threats of trouble during the holy season and converged on the sites and shrines revered by the faithful.

More than 2,000 Arabs—Moslems as well as Christians—have also arrived from Jordan, Lebanon and Kuwait via the Allenby Bridge across the Jordan River. Most of them are visiting relatives in the areas of Jordan occupied by Israel in the 1967 war. The rest came for Christmas or to visit Moslem shrines in Jerusalem at the end of Ramadan, the Moslem holy month.

Th Al Fatah organization of Arab guerrillas has warned pilgrims it would not be responsible for their safety during the Christmas season, a veiled threat which Al Fatah has made every year without following through. But thousands of Israeli border police and army troops are on the alert.

The weatherman predicted a bleak, cold but snowless Christmas in Bethlehem, spending its second Christmas under Israeli occupation.

Housewife Identified As Robber Of Bank

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — Jaqueline Cox, 33 - year - old housewife from nearby Ross, has been identified by witnesses as the woman wearing a ski mask who robbed a branch bank here of more than $3,000 in cash Monday and made her getaway in a lavender Cadillac, police said.

Mrs. Cox was arrested minutes after the robbery by a Hamilton County policeman just south of New Baltimore, north of Cincinnati. The patrolman, Jerry Bray, said he found $3,059 in cash, a ski mask and a pistol on the front seat of her car—which matched the description of the getaway vehicle.

Negro Students Plan Gift Visits To 3 Agencies

CINCINNATI AP)—Two hundred Negro students of Samuel Ach Junior High School today put wrappings on their "Operation Other Side of Christmas" with gift-bearing visits to the FBI and to court and probation officials.

Monday, they distributed 2,800 boxes to police and firemen—in addition to giving fruitcakes to the wives of officers. A door mat and an American flag also was presented to each police and fire station.

"They want to show they not only can receive—but can give as well," said Roger Tilford, a social studies teacher who helped the students organize their enterprise. He said 65 per cent of the school's student body is from broken homes and many are welfare recipients.

Money to buy the gifts—about $2,000—was raised from personal savings of students and contributions of the business community, Tilford said.

Bond Set For 2 In Check Charge

A soldier listed as AWOL and an East Liverpool man have been returned to Beaver County Jail in lieu of bond which was set at $5,000 cash and $10,000 property each at their arraignment before Squire Leroy Gibbs of Brighton Township Monday on check charges.

Thomas McPherson, believed AWOL from Ft. Meade, Md., is charged with conspiracy to commit a crime and forgery. Donald DePue of East Liverpool, was charged with conspiracy to commit an unlawful act. He previously pleaded guilty to passing worthless checks.

He implicated McPherson at his hearing.

Hearings for the two have been set for Monday at 10 a.m. before Squire Gibbs.

They are accused of passing bad checks at a Beaver County market.

Man Faces Hearing In Reckless Charge

SALINEVILLE — A local resident was charged with reckless operation as the result of an accident on E. Main St. Saturday at 7:40 p. m.

Police Chief Gordon Sweeney said Anthony Sevek, 52, of 177 E. Main St. was traveling west when his 1963 sedan veered to the right and struck the rear of a parked 1967 model car belonging to Lawrence Earl of Jefferson St.

There was considerable damage to the rear and left side of the Earl car and to the front of the Sevek car.

Sevek's hearing will be Jan. 8.

Independent Phone Assn. Thriving In Rural Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — There are 3,346 Ohio homes with the classic hand - crank telephones, symbolic in one sense of the prosperity of the Ohio Independent Telephone Association (OITA).

It is in rural areas that the OITA's 64 member phone companies continue to thrive—to the tune of $142 million in 1968. Rural Ohio belongs to OITA members and provides 1.2 million subscribers for one of the fastest growing industries in the state.

The Ohio Bell Telephone Co., while covering about 30 per cent of the state, can boast more than 4 million customers in the densely populated areas granted to Bell by the Public Utilities Commission. The rest "belongs" to independent companies.

Bell, part of the giant American Telephone & Telegraph Corp., is at once a partner and a competitor of the independent companies. The respective territories now set, one group can expand only where the other can not. But the competition exists since Bell and the OITA both want the consumers' dollars, increasing in the countryside and cities with unpredictable proportion.

While the Bell system is by far the largest in the state, the Cincinnati and Suburban system is second with 654,000 phones and General Telephone Co., a giant among indepenents, serves over 500,000 phones in Ohio.

General Telephone has about 508,000 customer phones in Ohio. This includes the 165,000 customers of Northern Ohio Phone Co., acquired in a recent merger.

The independent companies employ more than 8,250 persons this year, about 500 more than last year, and serve about 22 per cent of Ohio telephone subscribers.

Geographically, the independents are spread over more than 70 per cent of Ohio.

Daniel W. DeHayes, axecutive vice president of OITA, estimated the independents have a growth factor of six per cent.

DeHayes sees no boom in business and industrial subscribers for OITA. Rather the number of dwelling units will rise dramatically, he said, as they did this past year when revenues shot up $12 million.

Mergers among independents are frequent and show no signs of letting up. The OITA comprised more than 164 companies a decade ago; now there are 64.

"We don't see any immediate cessation of mergers," said DeHayes. "We don't see any opposition. There's a tremendous technology required and this means big capital outlay." Ohio mergers, he added, have taken place "pretty smoothly."

Originally the smaller firms were started in a vacuum left by Bell. The independents can claim invention of the dial phone in 1894, when a Kansas City undertaker suspected a telephone operator of switching his calls to other undertakers. To put an end to the alleged unscrupulousness, Almon Baker Strowger, the undertaker, invented the dial phone.

The independents now have push-button phones and single piece console models, the latter with trade names like "Slenderette" and "Trendline." They also experiment with the futuristic "television-telephones."

Rates vary from one firm to another. Sometimes, independents' rates are higher because of rough terrain, weather and isolation.

As DeHayes sees it, the independents' success is testimony to the magnificence of the whole communications industry. Anyone anywhere can call anyone anywhere. If a Circleville man calls Ho-Ho-Kus, N. J., the independent company sends him a bill.

Does Your Mother Smoke?

More Mail Miscellany

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Even before you are born smoking can stunt your growth. That is, if your mother smokes. A British medical study found that women who smoked had babies weighing six ounces less on the average than those born to nonsmoking mothers. But if a woman gave up smoking early in her pregnancy her baby was usually of average weight.

It has been estimated that eight square blocks of fog, piled 100 feet deep, consists of less than one large glass of water.

How much life will you have left in you when Uncle Sam starts paying you retirement money at the age of 65? Well, if you're a man in reasonable health, you should last anoher 13 years; if you're a woman, 16.4 years.

One of the things about women that puzzles doctors is why they can tolerate—and in fact enjoy—a bath temperature five degrees higher than that preferred by men. On the other hand, when they are not taking a bath, men are usually in not water more often than women.

How long should you leave your Christmas tree up? Well, sentiment is usually the ruling factor, but the truth is that after five days indoors any evergreen tree becomes increasingly a fire hazard.

Quotable notables: "Nobody can live without loving somebody, nobody can love without leaving somebody"— Noel Coward.

Cleanliness may be next to godliness, but daily showers actually remove only about seven per cent of the bacteria on your body. Those who scrub themselves with brush or wash cloth, says Dr. Ralph C. Richards, Utah surgery professor, "Irritate the skin and may invite greater bacterial invasion than would have been present had they never washed at all." Hippies have been trying to tell us this all along.

History lesson: Can you identify the U.S. presidents who bore the following nicknames: "Pointed Arrow," "veto President," "stuffed Prophet," and "Houdini in the White House"? They were Andrew Jackson, Andrew Johnson, Grover Cleveland and Franklin D. Roosevelt.

It was Mark Twain who observerd, "Noise proves nothing. Often a hen who has merely laid an egg cackles as if she had laid an asteroid."

Nixon Seen Preventing Recurrence Of Pueblo

WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect Nixon would prevent a recurrence of the capture of the U.S. intelligence-gathering ship Pueblo by providing more and better protection for such vessels, according to his last recorded statements on the matter.

In views expressed before and during the presidential campaign, and not publicly changed since, Nixon stated:

"I say that wherever we have —and we must have ships of this type gathering intelligence so that we will not have a surprise attack—let us make sure that we have in the area other ships or planes that can come to the rescue of such a ship in the event that it comes under attack."

Soon after North Korea captured the Pueblo and its 83-man crew last January, Nixon said, "What we can do is not let this happen again."

However, Nixon stopped short during the campaign of proposing that spy ships be given escort and air cover at all times.

Nixon's view has been challenged by Johnson administration officials, spokesmen and defense officials.

Because of the secret nature of their assignments, the spy ships cannot always be kept in the range of American naval and air units, they say.

Former Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, current Defense chief Clark M. Clifford and Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joints Chiefs of Staff, all have opposed the idea of naval escort or a jet fighter cover for intelligence ships.

Clifford said last September: "You have a ship like the Pueblo there to engage in a certain important function, that is, the gathering of information that comes over the airways. . .

"It can't be part of a large flotilla of naval vessels because that would destroy the purpose for why it's there. You can't keep a cap of fighter planes over it. That again would destroy its effectiveness."

Wheeler testified for Congress that the cost of escorting ships like the Pueblo would be "extremely high."

In some cases, Wheeler said, it would require carrier task forces "deployed thousands of miles from our shores in order to protect the vessel, which should be able to proceed freely on the high seas in accordance with international law."

In criticizing the Johnson administration's handling of the Pueblo situation soon after the capture of the ship Nixon said that "We should have either moved in with cover for the ship or we should have pulled it out of there."

Defense Deparment offcials said that at the time, only 18 U.S. Air force jets were in the Pueblo's area and they could not have been put in the air in time to have helped.

There were no American naval units near enough to have aided the spy ship either, the officials said.

Only after the Pueblo was grabbed by the North Koreans did the United States dispatch carriers and other powerful fighting units into the waters off Korea.

Israeli Warplanes Pummel Arabs Inside Jordan Again

BETHLEHEM (AP) — Israeli warplanes pummelled Arab guerrillas inside Jordan again today while 80 miles to the south in the birthplace of Christ yuletide preparations approached their climax.

The planes smashed at Al Fatah saboteurs the Israelis said were based in the abandoned village of Manshiya, facing the Beisan Valley just south of the Sea of Galilee.

The Israeli army charged the Arabs fired rockets and light arms at an Israeli patrol on the Jordan River ceasefire line at 7:30 a.m.

Heavy smoke could be seen as the Israeli jets swept through a driving rain. Israeli tanks also fired at the village.

No Israeli casualties were reported.

It was the third time in a week the Israeli Air Force has sent one or two planes over Jordan to attack positions from which the Israelis claim the Arab guerrillas have been attacking Israel.

Meanwhile, thousands of Christian pilgrims ignored Arab threats of trouble during the holy season and converged on the sites and shrines revered by the faithful.

More than 2,000 Arabs—Moslems as well as Christians—have also arrived from Jordan, Lebanon and Kuwait via the Allenby Bridge across the Jordan River. Most of them are visiting relatives in the areas of Jordan occupied by Israel in the 1967 war. The rest came for Christmas or to visit Moslem shrines in Jerusalem at the end of Ramadan, the Moslem holy month.

Th Al Fatah organization of Arab guerrillas has warned pilgrims it would not be responsible for their safety during the Christmas season, a veiled threat which Al Fatah has made every year without following through. But thousands of Israeli border police and army troops are on the alert.

The weatherman predicted a bleak, cold but snowless Christmas in Bethlehem, spending its second Christmas under Israeli occupation.

Housewife Identified As Robber Of Bank

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — Jaqueline Cox, 33 - year - old housewife from nearby Ross, has been identified by witnesses as the woman wearing a ski mask who robbed a branch bank here of more than $3,000 in cash Monday and made her getaway in a lavender Cadillac, police said.

Mrs. Cox was arrested minutes after the robbery by a Hamilton County policeman just south of New Baltimore, north of Cincinnati. The patrolman, Jerry Bray, said he found $3,059 in cash, a ski mask and a pistol on the front seat of her car—which matched the description of the getaway vehicle.

Negro Students Plan Gift Visits To 3 Agencies

CINCINNATI AP)—Two hundred Negro students of Samuel Ach Junior High School today put wrappings on their "Operation Other Side of Christmas" with gift-bearing visits to the FBI and to court and probation officials.

Monday, they distributed 2,800 boxes to police and firemen—in addition to giving fruitcakes to the wives of officers. A door mat and an American flag also was presented to each police and fire station.

"They want to show they not only can receive—but can give as well," said Roger Tilford, a social studies teacher who helped the students organize their enterprise. He said 65 per cent of the school's student body is from broken homes and many are welfare recipients.

Money to buy the gifts—about $2,000—was raised from personal savings of students and contributions of the business community, Tilford said.

Bond Set For 2 In Check Charge

A soldier listed as AWOL and an East Liverpool man have been returned to Beaver County Jail in lieu of bond which was set at $5,000 cash and $10,000 property each at their arraignment before Squire Leroy Gibbs of Brighton Township Monday on check charges.

Thomas McPherson, believed AWOL from Ft. Meade, Md., is charged with conspiracy to commit a crime and forgery. Donald DePue of East Liverpool, was charged with conspiracy to commit an unlawful act. He previously pleaded guilty to passing worthless checks.

He implicated McPherson at his hearing.

Hearings for the two have been set for Monday at 10 a.m. before Squire Gibbs.

They are accused of passing bad checks at a Beaver County market.

Man Faces Hearing In Reckless Charge

SALINEVILLE — A local resident was charged with reckless operation as the result of an accident on E. Main St. Saturday at 7:40 p. m.

Police Chief Gordon Sweeney said Anthony Sevek, 52, of 177 E. Main St. was traveling west when his 1963 sedan veered to the right and struck the rear of a parked 1967 model car belonging to Lawrence Earl of Jefferson St.

There was considerable damage to the rear and left side of the Earl car and to the front of the Sevek car.

Sevek's hearing will be Jan. 8.

Independent Phone Assn. Thriving In Rural Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — There are 3,346 Ohio homes with the classic hand - crank telephones, symbolic in one sense of the prosperity of the Ohio Independent Telephone Association (OITA).

It is in rural areas that the OITA's 64 member phone companies continue to thrive—to the tune of $142 million in 1968. Rural Ohio belongs to OITA members and provides 1.2 million subscribers for one of the fastest growing industries in the state.

The Ohio Bell Telephone Co., while covering about 30 per cent of the state, can boast more than 4 million customers in the densely populated areas granted to Bell by the Public Utilities Commission. The rest "belongs" to independent companies.

Bell, part of the giant American Telephone & Telegraph Corp., is at once a partner and a competitor of the independent companies. The respective territories now set, one group can expand only where the other can not. But the competition exists since Bell and the OITA both want the consumers' dollars, increasing in the countryside and cities with unpredictable proportion.

While the Bell system is by far the largest in the state, the Cincinnati and Suburban system is second with 654,000 phones and General Telephone Co., a giant among indepenents, serves over 500,000 phones in Ohio.

General Telephone has about 508,000 customer phones in Ohio. This includes the 165,000 customers of Northern Ohio Phone Co., acquired in a recent merger.

The independent companies employ more than 8,250 persons this year, about 500 more than last year, and serve about 22 per cent of Ohio telephone subscribers.

Geographically, the independents are spread over more than 70 per cent of Ohio.

Daniel W. DeHayes, axecutive vice president of OITA, estimated the independents have a growth factor of six per cent.

MERRY CHRISTMAS

The Birthday of the Saviour is here, and we are once again reminded that

Christmas is a family day . . . a day of reunions and feasting, and a day of joyous gifting. But let us not forget, as we fill the stockings and surround the tree with packages, the most important gifts of all

. . . the gifts that bear neither price tags nor gay wrappings, yet are of infinite value. These are the gifts of kindness, tolerance, consideration and compassion. Let us hope that this Christmas will revive the true spirit of giving that began

MERRY CHRISTMAS

The Birthday of the Saviour is here, and we are once again reminded that Christmas is a family day . . . a day of reunions and feasting, and a day of joyous gifting. But let us not forget, as we fill the stockings and surround the tree with packages, the most important gifts of all . . . the gifts that bear neither price tags nor gay wrappings, yet are of infinite value. These are the gifts of kindness, tolerance, consideration and compassion. Let us hope that this Christmas will revive the true spirit of giving that began with the Birth of a Holy Child . . . to bring peace and good will to all.

Jets' Joe Namath Named Most Valuable Player In AFL

Sports Whirled

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

Today, elsewhere on this page, appears the season's first release of the Turk Pierece Rating system for high school basketball teams.

For those who have forgotten from last season, the rating is based on scoring margin and strength of opposition. It is a completely mathematical formula, with no judgment involved. This is the eighth year of rating the WPIAL teams, and the second year for Ohio.

MORE TEAMS are being rated this year in Ohio and West Virginia. Last year only the Big 8, Buckeye Border, Tri-County, Inter-County and Youngstown City conferences were included, plus some independents. This year the Steel Valley and OVAC conferences have been added, plus Canton city teams and more independents in Trumbull County. In West Virginia, the Panhandle teams are being rated.

With more teams involved, the Ohio ratings should become more accurate. The ratings are on a parity with Pennsylvania, as can be seen by the fact that Farrell, rated 8.3 better than Canton McKinley, beat the Bulldogs by 8, and Aliquippa, rated 6.4 better than East Liverpool, beat the Potters by 6.

SINCE MORE teams are being rated in Ohio this year, in addition to the Ohio Top 10, there will be run a local Top 5, embracing only the 15 teams covered by The Review.

The ratings will tend to become more reliable as the season goes along and more games are figured in. Last year Laurel Highlands, the eventual Pennsylvania state champion, was rated number one in the WPIAL. (The Highlands fourth in today's ratings is a different team, a merger of Har-Brack and Tarentum). East Liverpool was ranked tops last year among the limited number of Ohio teams rated.

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Namath, whose $5,000 mink coat and $10,000 Fu Manchu mustache made him the center of attention off the field, was named the American Football League's Most Valuable Player today for what he did on the field.

Namath, who leads the New York Jets into Sunday's championship game against Oakland, was an overwhelming choice in the voting by an Associated Press panel of 30 sports writers and sportscasters, three in each AFL city.

He received 15 votes while eight players shared the other 15.

Lance Alworth of San Diego was runner-up with four votes, Bob Griese of Miami had three, Len Dawson of Kansas City and John Hadl of San Diego two each and Oakland's Daryle Lamonica, George Sauer of New York, Paul Robinson of Cincinnati and Kansas City's Bob Holmes one each.

In sparking the Jets to their first Eastern Division title, Namath didn't pass for as much yardage or for as many touchdowns this year as last—he completed 49 per cent of his passes for 3,147 yards and 15 TDs.

But he developed his ability to move the team to a level he hadn't reached in his first three seasons.

Two striking examples show why Namath was such a clear choice for the MVP award (in a poll of AFL coaches he also was named player of the year).

In the season opener at Kansas City, the Jets were leading 20-19 with nearly six minutes left in the game, but they were at their own five-yard line with third down and 11 yards to go.

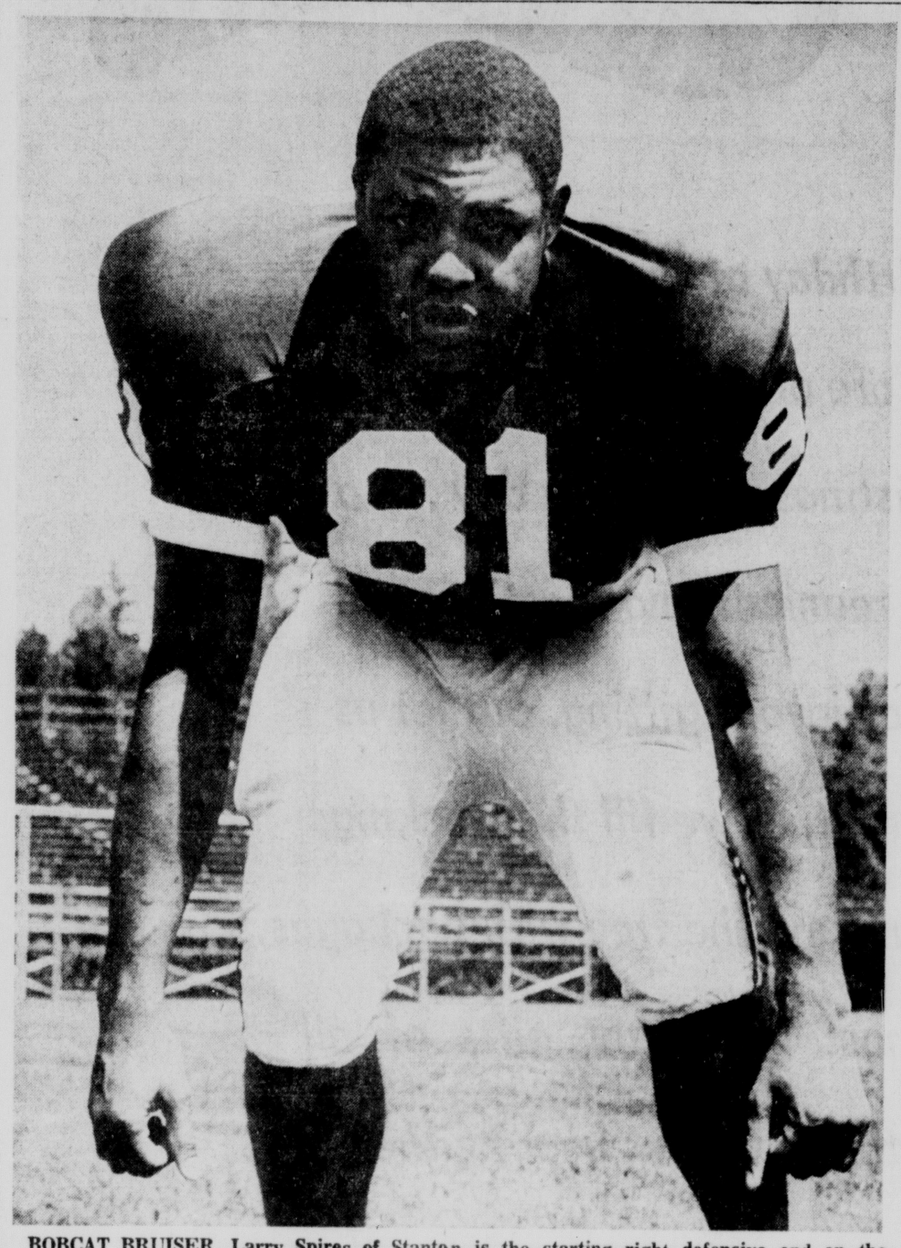
While the Chiefs envisioned getting the ball on a punt and marching in for the winning score, Namath hit Don Maynard with a 16-yard pass for a first down, and the Jets went on to hold the ball for the rest of the game.

"I thought nobody in the world could do that to us," said Coach Hank Stram of Kansas City.

Five weeks later, after dropping two out of their previous three games for a 3-2 record, the Jets were trailing Houston 14-13 in the closing minutes of the game. A loss very easily could have a permanently damaging effect on their title chances.

But Namath, remaining cool as always, completed four consecutive passes for 53 yards and moved the team 80 yards in eight plays over-all for the winning score that came with 48 seconds left.

That was quite a performance by a guy who the week before had five passes intercepted. Then, too, the season-long performance wasn't too bad for a guy who has two bad knees.



BOBCAT BRUISER. Larry Spires of Stanton is the starting right defensive end on the Ohio U. football team that will meet Richmond in the Tangerine Bowl Friday night in Orlando, Fla. Spires, a junior, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Spires of Box 119, Irondale.

Midland Takes Lead In Offense

Midland, with two lopsided wins last week, regained the lead in offense among area basketball teams, and came within one point of wresting the lead in defense away from East Liverpool.

The Leopards are averaging an even 70 points a game, with Wellsville next at 67.0. The Potters, leaders last week, slumped to 60.4.

East Liverpool did retain its defense lead, but barely. The Potters are yielding 43.4 points a game and the Leopards 43.5.

Jack Mills of United Local is still the top scorer in the area with a 26.2 average. John Bobalik of Wellsville has moved into second place. Jim Courtney of Lisbon returned to the Top 10, replacing Terry Lipp of East Palestine.

Bengal Rookie Robinson On AFL All-Star Team

By MURRAY CHASS

NEW YORK (AP) — Halfback Paul Robinson, guard Gene Upshaw and linebackers George Webster and Willie Lanier add a youthful flavor to the American Football League All-Star named by The Associated Press.

Robinson, Cincinnati's league rushing champion, is the only rookie to make the 22-man squad while Oakland's Upshaw, Webster of Houston and Kansas City's Lanier are in their second years.

In contrast on the team selected by a panel made up of 30 sports writers and sportscasters, three from each AFL city, are such players as tackle Ron Mix and flanker Lance Alworth of San Diego and center Jim Otto of Oakland.

Mix was selected for the ninth time, making him the only player to be named to every All-Star team in the AFL's history. Alworth is on the team for the sixth time—he missed in only his first season—and Otto makes it for the eighth time, having missed only the 1966 team.

The Western Division dominated the squad with 16 players. Oakland placed six men, Kansas City five, San Diego three and Cincinnati and Denver one each. New York led the East with three players, Houston had two and Boston one. No one from Buffalo and Miami made it.

Joe Namath, who engineered the Jets to their first Eastern Division crown, is the quarterback while one of his favorite passing targets, George Sauer is the split end. Oakland's Hewritt Dixon is the other running back.

Besides Mix, Otto, Upshaw and Sauer, the offensive line has tight end Jim Whalen of Boston, tackle Jim Tyrer of Kansas City and guard Walt Sweeney of San Diego.

The defensive line is made up of ends Gerry Philbin of New York and Rich Jackson of Denver and tackles Buch Buchanan of Kansas City and Dan Birdwell of Oakland.

Lanier, the middle linebacker, was engaged in the closest vote battle, winning by one vote, 11 to 10, over Oakland's Dan Conners. Webster, who was the only rookie on last year's team, is one of the corner linebackers, and Kansas City's Bobby Bell is the other.

UT, El Paso Upsets Lobos

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's a Merry Christmas layoff today and Wednesday for the nation's college basketball teams but the University of Texas-El Paso celebrated prematurely Monday night by having the last "Ho, Ho, Ho" on the New Mexico Lobos.

The unranked Miners, four-point loser to New Mexico in their first meeting, turned the tables on the sixth-ranked Lobos with a 71-67 victory that left both teams with 8-2 records.

The only other team in The Associated Press' new Top Ten to see action ninth-rated Santa Clara, breezed to an 86-62 triumph over Gonzaga.

Texas - El Paso trailed New Mexico 47-41 at halftime and 64-55 with nine minutes when they started a surge that kept the Lobos scoreless over the final seven minutes.

Mike Switzer and Ples Vann sparked the outburst with four quick points and Tom Issac added a jump shot. New Mexico then scored its final points on a basket by Petie Gibson and a free throw by Leonard Lopez with 7:08 left.

The Miners ran off 10 straight points and ate up most of the final four minutes with a stall. Switzer paced the Miners with 23 points and Nate Erchibald added 20.

Santa Clara had little trouble with Gonzaga. The unbeaten Broncos rolled to a 44-26 halftime lead and coasted to their seventh victory of the season and 21st straight regular season triumph.

High-scoring Bud Ogden was held to seven points, all from the foul line, but his brother, Ralph, picked up the slack with 23 and 6-foot-9 Dennis Awtrey added 18 and grabbed 15 rebounds.

Dave Sorenson scored a career high 32 points but 16th-ranked Ohio State needed four late points by sophomore Jim Cleamons to hold off Butler 74-71. Butler made up an 11-point deficit before dropping its fifth game to a Big Ten opponent.

Elsewhere, Arizona scored the first 12 points of the second half and turned back Nebraska 68-63. All five starters were in double figures as Houston overcame a six-point halftime deficit and downed Bowling Green 91-80. Ollie Taylor paced the Cougars with 21 points.

Tulsa ran up a 45-34 halftime lead and outlasted Bradley 81-79 in a Missouri Valley Conference game. Tulsa's Bobby Smith had 23 points but game honors went to Bradley's L.C. Bowen, one of the country's top marksmen, with 32.

Syracuse staved off Brigham Young 77-73 despite six straight baskets in the late going by the losers' Scott Warner. Another hot shooter in defeat was Creighton's Bob Portman, who tied the school record with 19 field goals and finished with 46 points but couldn't prevent an 89-83 loss to Weber State.

Dan Sadlier pumped in 22 points and held Los Angeles Loyola's high-scoring Jim Haderlein to 12 in Dayton's easy 83-58 victory.

UT, El Paso Upsets Lobos

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's a Merry Christmas layoff today and Wednesday for the nation's college basketball teams but the University of Texas-El Paso celebrated prematurely Monday night by having the last "Ho, Ho, Ho" on the New Mexico Lobos.

The unranked Miners, four-point loser to New Mexico in their first meeting, turned the tables on the sixth-ranked Lobos with a 71-67 victory that left both teams with 8-2 records.

The only other team in The Associated Press' new Top Ten to see action ninth-rated Santa Clara, breezed to an 86-62 triumph over Gonzaga.

Texas-El Paso trailed New Mexico 47-41 at halftime and 64-55 with nine minutes when they started a surge that kept the Lobos scoreless over the final seven minutes.

Mike Switzer and Ples Vann sparked the outburst with four quick points and Tom Issac added a jump shot. New Mexico then scored its final points on a basket by Petie Gibson and a free throw by Leonard Lopez with 7:08 left.

The Miners ran off 10 straight points and ate up most of the final four minutes with a stall. Switzer paced the Miners with 23 points and Nate Erchibald added 20.

Santa Clara had little trouble with Gonzaga. The unbeaten Broncos rolled to a 44-26 halftime lead and coasted to their seventh victory of the season and 21st straight regular season triumph.

High-scoring Bud Ogden was held to seven points, all from the foul line, but his brother, Ralph, picked up the slack with 23 and 6-foot-9 Dennis Awtrey added 18 and grabbed 15 rebounds.

Dave Sorenson scored a career high 32 points but 16th-ranked Ohio State needed four late points by sophomore Jim Cleamons to hold off Butler 74-71. Butler made up an 11-point deficit before dropping its fifth game to a Big Ten opponent.

Elsewhere, Arizona scored the first 12 points of the second half and turned back Nebraska 68-63. All five starters were in double figures as Houston overcame a six-point halftime deficit and downed Bowling Green 91-80. Ollie Taylor paced the Cougars with 21 points.

Tulsa ran up a 45-34 halftime lead and outlasted Bradley 81-79 in a Missouri Valley Conference game. Tulsa's Bobby Smith had 23 points but game honors went to Bradley's L.C. Bowen, one of the country's top marksmen, with 32.

Syracuse staved off Brigham Young 77-73 despite six straight baskets in the late going by the losers' Scott Warner. Another hot shooter in defeat was Creighton's Bob Portman, who tied the school record with 19 field goals and finished with 46 points but couldn't prevent an 89-83 loss to Weber State.

Dan Sadlier pumped in 22 points and held Los Angeles Loyola's high-scoring Jim Haderlein to 12 in Dayton's easy 83-58 victory.

It's the season of rejoicing, of peace on earth, good will to men. We welcome the opportunity to greet our friends and customers, whose loyal good will we greatly value.

Midland Takes Lead In Offense

Midland, with two lopsided wins last week, regained the lead in offense among area basketball teams, and came within one point of wresting the lead in defense away from East Liverpool.

The Leopards are averaging an even 70 points a game, with Wellsville next at 67.0. The Potters, leaders last week, slumped to 60.4.

East Liverpool did retain its defense lead, but barely. The Potters are yielding 43.4 points a game and the Leopards 43.5.

Jack Mills of United Local is still the top scorer in the area with a 26.2 average. John Bobalik of Wellsville has moved into second place. Jim Courtney of Lisbon returned to the Top 10, replacing Terry Lipp of East Palestine.

Colts, Jets Grid Picks

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York Jets and Baltimore Colts emerged as the early favorites today in the American and National Football League championship games set for Sunday.

The Jets ruled as three-point picks over the Oakland Raiders in the AFL game and the Colts were rated six points over Cleveland's Browns in the NFL game.

It was a situation that didn't exactly bother the underdogs.

That's because both Cleveland and Oakland upset the oddsmakers last weekend, knocking off favorites to reach pro football's semifinal showdown Sunday. The Browns beat favored Dallas 31-20 to win the NFL's Eastern Conference title and the Raiders walloped Kansas City 41-6 to take the AFL's Western Division crown.

And both clubs are confident they can beat the opposition the the odds-makers again.

"These guys have a lot of pride," said quarterback Daryle Lamonica of his Oakland teammates. "New York is tough and we'll have to play our best to win."

Lamonica hosted a champagne party for his teammates Monday and the Raiders only hope it was a prelude to an even bigger party after Sunday's title game.

It was Lamonica's pinpoint passing to flasker Fred Biletnikoff that broke Sunday's game against the Chiefs open. Biletnikoff was jarred late in the game and had to leave but is expected to begin working out with the rest of the Raiders today for Sunday's game.

The Jets were interested observers in Lamonica's work on the Chiefs and Walt Michaels, New York's defensive back coach, indicated that what they saw might cause some changes in coverage plans.

"We've played zone about half the time and man-to-man the other half," said Michael. "But we may have two new coverages for this game."

Michaels and the Jets were concerned not only with Biletnikoff, who caught seven passes for 180 yards and three touchdowns, but with Warren Wells (four-for-93 yards and two TDs) as well.

"They're both fine receivers," said Michaels. "If you let one go, you'll get the other. They're good, consistant receivers."

While Walt Michaels' championship game job is strictly coaching, his brother, Lou, will pay a more active role. He is the pace kicker for the Baltimore Colts.

The Colts enjoyed the favorite role against the Browns despite the fact that Cleveland was the only team to beat Baltimore during the regular season. The score was 30-20 and the Browns did it with some opportunistic interceptions against Johnny Unitas, who received Earl Morrall with the Colts down 14-7 at haftime.

Since then, though, Morrall has established himself as Baltimore's No. 1 signal caller and it would take more than a one TD deficit to get him out of the line-up.

Leroy Kelly gained 130 yards rushing against the Colts in the first meeting between the two teams and the way quarterback Bill Nelson talked Monday, Baltimore can expect to see plenty of Kelly again.

"We must run more against them than the Vikings did," said Nelson, analyzing Baltimore's 24-14 victory over Minnesota in Sunday's Western playoff.

Kelly picked up 87 yards on the ground in Cleveland's upset over Dallas and Nelsen indicated that he would lean to the successful running game.

"If we work at things as we have been," the Cleveland quarterback said, "we can get the job done."

The job, for all four pro football clubs, starts today with preparations beginning in earnest for Sunday's games.

UCLA Maintains First

Villanova, Kansas, Illinois Advance In College Poll

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Villanova and Kansas made the most rapid advances of the high ranking teams in The Associated Press' major college basketball poll today while UCLA and North Carolina continued to dominate the weekly balloting.

Villanova soared from eighth place to fifth after crushing Catholic University 77-47 for a 5-0 mark. Kansas leaped from 11th to eighth after lifting its mark to 8-1 with victories over Murray, Utah State and Stanford last week.

UCLA was a unanimous choice for first place. The Bruins were named the top team on all 42 ballots by a national panel of sports writers and broadcasters. The Bruins maintained their unbeaten slate last week by defeating Minnesota and West Virginia, their fourth and fifth triumphs of the campaign.

North Carolina remained in second place. The Tar Heels, 6-0, whipped Clemson and Virginia in last week's action. In total points on a basis of 20 for a first place vote, 18 for second, 16 for third, 14 for fourth, 12-10-9-8 down to 1 for 15th, UCLA collected the maximum 840 while North Carolina accumulated 744.

Davidson had third place while Kentucky is still fourth. New Mexico slipped one notch to sixth after dropping its first game of the season, 79-72 to Colorado.

Notre Dame remained in seventh place, Santa Clara advanced one position to ninth and Cincinnati slipped four notches to 10th after losing to Southern California.

Three new teams made their way into the Second Ten. They were Illinois, No. 12, Wyoming, No. 19, and Tennessee, No. 20. They replaced California, which lost twice last week, plus Western Kentucky and Houston. The Cougars were beaten by Illinois.

Detroit moved up from 13th to 11th, St. Bonaventure, upset by Detroit, slipped from ninth to 13th and Louisville climbed from 19th to 14th. New Mexico State slipped back a notch to 15th while Ohio State and LaSalle switched positions, the Buckeyes climbing to 16th and LaSalle dropping to 17th. Purdue, an 85-80 loser to Arizona State, tumbled six positions to No. 18.

The new teams in the rankings have a combined 19-1 record. Illinois and Wyoming are 7-0 while Tennessee is 5-1.

Green Says Browns Up For Colts

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Ernie Green figures the team that gets higher will take the National Football League title Sunday.

"Every player on both sides will come in high," the Cleveland Browns' running back and co-captain said Monday. "It will be a matter of who's the highest."

Green also had a comment for those who think the Browns' 30-20 victory over Baltimore this year was something that shouldn't have happened, but did.

"Baltimore has a great team," he said. "But we want to show those people they're wrong."

The Colts are favored by six points.

Baltimore Coach Don Shula, who will bring his Western Conference champions to Municipal Stadium for the title game, said about the Browns' victory.

"They didn't beat us by any fluke."

The Browns have a 5-4 edge over Baltimore in all games played since 1950, including exhibitions. Cleveland has a 3-2 advantage in regular season play with Baltimore holding a 2-1 exhibition lead.

The two clubs met once for the NFL title, in 1964, and Cleveland won that one 27-0.

Browns' quarterback Bill Nelsen said he watched the Baltimore-Minnesota game on television last Sunday and was impressed with the Colts' defense in the 24-14 victory.

"We must run more against them than the Vikings did," Nelsen said. "If we work at things as we have been we can get the job done, particularly if the coaches come up with a game plan as they did for Dallas."

Cleveland won that one last Saturday 31-20 to take the Eastern Conference title.

"I can say I won't run as much as Joe Kapp did," Nelsen said, referring to the 52 yards gained by the Minnesota quarterback who kept running from Baltimore defenders.

Green said a big incentive for both clubs will be the trip to the Super Bowl and the possible $25,000 per man payoff for taking the NFL title and the game in Miami against the American Football League champ.

Racing Commission Rules

Dancer's Image Gets Win, But Fuller Gets No Money

By LARRY ELDRIDGE
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — Hanging on Peter Fuller's office wall is a picture of Dancer's Image in which the winner of the controversial 1968 Kentucky Derby appears to be smiling quizzically.

"See that look?" the Boston sportsman said to newsmen Monday after a ruling that the colt had indeed won the Derby but could not share in the purse because an illegal pain-killer was found in his system.

"You can tell he's asking: 'Are you kidding, Pete?' "

The wealthy auto dealer indicated strongly that he wanted to continue his battle to clear the colt's record.

"Concerning my further appeal, I will confer with my attorneys . . ." Fuller said. "Still, in all candor, I must remind you that Dancer's Image ran the last quarter on May 4 at Churchill Downs with all his ability and heart to finsh the course—can I as his owner and friend do less?

Fuller's comments came at a news conference called after an announcement by the Kentucky Racing Commission that it was upholding Churchill Downs stewards, who ordered the Derby's purse money redistributed after a chemist said he found an illegal drug in a post-race urinalysis.

The commission's announcement in Lexington, Ky., came after 14 days of testimony on Fuller's appeal of the ruling. Chairman George Egger said the commission concluded that Dancer's Image had phenylbutazone and-or a derivative of it in its urine during the Derby race.

However the commission clarified one point of confusion, by noting that under racing rules the colt loses the purse but retains the victory. This was a change from the original statement by Churchill Downs President Wathen Knebelkamp in May that Dancer's Image had been disqualified and placed last.

Fuller, who has retired Dancer's Image to stud and is syndicating the son of Native Dancer for $2 million, indicated that this clarification was important —"I'm selling this horse as a classic winner"—but that he didn't consider it any special favor.

"I must comment at the risk of seemng ungrateful that we have already earned this honor, which was improperly cast in doubt by Mr. Knebelkamp's post-Derby statement . . ." he said.

"Thus the commission has given us nothing we did not already have when Dancer's Image crossed the finish line first by a length and a half."

Kenneth Smith, chemist for Churchill Downs, revealed three days after America's most famous race that his tests showed the presence of phenylbutazone in the winner's system.

The drug is a medication often used to ease swelling and pain in horses, but like most states, Kentuck provides that it may not be present in a horse's system at race time.

After hearings the track stewards redistributed the purse-giving the $122,600 first place money to second finisher, Calumet Farms' Forward Pass.

New Orleans Wins In Last 2 Seconds

By The Associated Press

When the longest two seconds in pro basketball history were over Monday night, the New Orleans Bucs had beaten the Houston Mavericks 107-106 in an American Basketball Association game.

It took about five minutes to play those final two seconds after Red Robbins' jump shot had put the Bucs on top. The clock, for some unexplained reason, stopped and when it was noticed, both teams, Coaches Babe McCarthy of New Orleans and Jim Weaver of Houston, and a number of fans rushed the timekeeper.

When the rhubarb was settled, the referees gave Houston possession with one second. But the attempt at a court-length pass in struck the loudspeaker and New Orleans regained the ball. That meant the Bucs had scored, lost possession and regained possession of the basketball, all in two seconds.

In other ABA action, Miami dropped Indiana 118-109. In the only National Basketball Association game played, San Francisco whipped San Diego 125-95.

Willie Somerset, who led Houston with 29 points, had given the Mavericks a one-point edge with nine seconds remaining before the hectic finish. Jimmy Jones topped New Orleans with 27.

After the game, Weaver, Houston's coach, rushed over to the scorer's table, apparently to protest. But he loudy insisted: "I'm not complaining. I'm not complaining." McCarthy, New Orleans' coach, would only say: "I'm not pointing an accusing finger at anyone."

Mel Daniels, recovering from a touch of flu, a bad eye and a broken nose, led the Pacers with 28.

San Francisco limited Elvin Hayes, the NBA's leading scorer, to 15 points in defeating San Diego. Hayes, boasting a 30.5 average, was double and triple-teamed as the Warriors held the Rockets' high-scoring front courtmen to only 39 points. Their lowest point-production of the season.

The Warriors, still without injured Nate Thurmond and Clyde Lee, dominated the backboards as Rudy LaRusso, Dale Schlueter and Jeff Mullins bottled up Hayes.

San Francisco, ahead 53-44, at halftime, went on a 19-5 spree in the third period and opened a commanding 72-49 bulge.

LaRusso spearheaded the Warrior attack with 30 points and Don Kojis was high for San Diego with 18.

Richmond Quarterback Eligible

KANSAS CITY (AP) — University of Richmond quarterback Buster O'Brien was ruled eligible Monday for postseason football competition by the eligibility committee of the National College Athletic Association.

O'Brien appealed a ruling that would have kept him from playing in the Tangerine Bowl football game against Ohio University Friday night.

Earlier, the NCAA had ruled O'Brien ineligible for the game in Orlando, Fla. The ruling noted O'Brien had received his bachelor's degree last June at Richmond.

The appeal was on the grounds that an NCAA provision granted an additional year of competition by his conference on grounds of hardship is also eligible for postseason events.

Colts, Jets Grid Picks

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York Jets and Baltimore Colts emerged as the early favorites today in the American and National Football League championship games set for Sunday.

The Jets ruled as three-point picks over the Oakland Raiders in the AFL game and the Colts were rated six points over Cleveland's Browns in the NFL game.

It was a situation that didn't exactly bother the underdogs.

That's because both Cleveland and Oakland upset the oddsmakers last weekend, knocking off favorites to reach pro football's semifinal showdown Sunday. The Browns beat favored Dallas 31-20 to win the NFL's Eastern Conference title and the Raiders walloped Kansas City 41-6 to take the AFL's Western Division crown.

And both clubs are confident they can beat the opposition the the odds-makers again.

"These guys have a lot of pride," said quarterback Daryle Lamonica of his Oakland teammates. "New York is tough and we'll have to play our best to win."

Lamonica hosted a champagne party for his teammates Monday and the Raiders only hope it was a prelude to an even bigger party after Sunday's title game.

It was Lamonica's pinpoint passing to flasker Fred Biletnikoff that broke Sunday's game against the Chiefs open. Biletnikoff was jarred late in the game and had to leave but is expected to begin working out with the rest of the Raiders today for Sunday's game.

The Jets were interested observers in Lamonica's work on the Chiefs and Walt Michaels, New York's defensive back coach, indicated that what they saw might cause some changes in coverage plans.

"We've played zone about half the time and man-to-man the other half," said Michael. "But we may have two new coverages for this game."

Michaels and the Jets were concerned not only with Biletnikoff, who caught seven passes for 180 yards and three touchdowns, but with Warren Wells (four-for-93 yards and two TDs) as well.

"They're both fine receivers," said Michaels. "If you let one go, you'll get the other. They're good, consistant receivers."

While Walt Michaels' championship game job is strictly coaching, his brother, Lou, will pay a more active role. He is the pace kicker for the Baltimore Colts.

The Colts enjoyed the favorite role against the Browns despite the fact that Cleveland was the only team to beat Baltimore during the regular season. The score was 30-20 and the Browns did it with some opportunistic interceptions against Johnny Unitas, who received Earl Morrall with the Colts down 14-7 at haftime.

Since then, though, Morrall has established himself as Baltimore's No. 1 signal caller and it would take more than a one TD deficit to get him out of the line-up.

Leroy Kelly gained 130 yards rushing against the Colts in the first meeting between the two teams and the way quarterback Bill Nelson talked Monday, Baltimore can expect to see plenty of Kelly again.

"We must run more against them than the Vikings did," said Nelson, analyzing Baltimore's 24-14 victory over Minnesota in Sunday's Western playoff.

Kelly picked up 87 yards on the ground in Cleveland's upset over Dallas and Nelsen indicated that he would lean to the successful running game.

"If we work at things as we have been," the Cleveland quarterback said, "we can get the job done."

The job, for all four pro football clubs, starts today with preparations beginning in earnest for Sunday's games.

Villanova, Kansas, Illinois Advance In College Poll

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Villanova and Kansas made the most rapid advances of the high ranking teams in The Associated Press' major college basketball poll today while UCLA and North Carolina continued to dominate the weekly balloting.

Villanova soared from eighth place to fifth after crushing Catholic University 77-47 for a 5-0 mark. Kansas leaped from 11th to eighth after lifting its mark to 8-1 with victories over Murray, Utah State and Stanford last week.

UCLA was a unanimous choice for first place. The Bruins were named the top team on all 42 ballots by a national panel of sports writers and broadcasters. The Bruins maintained their unbeaten slate last week by defeating Minnesota and West Virginia, their fourth and fifth triumphs of the campaign.

North Carolina remained in second place. The Tar Heels, 6-0, whipped Clemson and Virginia in last week's action. In total points on a basis of 20 for a first place vote, 18 for second, 16 for third, 14 for fourth, 12-10-9-8 down to 1 for 15th, UCLA collected the maximum 840 while North Carolina accumulated 744.

Davidson had third place while Kentucky is still fourth. New Mexico slipped one notch to sixth after dropping its first game of the season, 79-72 to Colorado.

Notre Dame remained in seventh place, Santa Clara advanced one position to ninth and Cincinnati slipped four notches to 10th after losing to Southern California.

Three new teams made their way into the Second Ten. They were Illinois, No. 12, Wyoming, No. 19, and Tennessee, No. 20. They replaced California, which lost twice last week, plus Western Kentucky and Houston. The Cougars were beaten by Illinois.

Detroit moved up from 13th to 11th, St. Bonaventure, upset by Detroit, slipped from ninth to 13th and Louisville climbed from 19th to 14th. New Mexico State slipped back a notch to 15th while Ohio State and LaSalle switched positions, the Buckeyes climbing to 16th and LaSalle dropping to 17th. Purdue, an 85-80 loser to Arizona State, tumbled six positions to No. 18.

The new teams in the rankings have a combined 19-1 record. Illinois and Wyoming are 7-0 while Tennessee is 5-1.

Green Says Browns Up For Colts

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Ernie Green figures the team that gets higher will take the National Football League title Sunday.

"Every player on both sides will come in high," the Cleveland Browns' running back and co-captain said Monday. "It will be a matter of who's the highest."

Green also had a comment for those who think the Browns' 30-20 victory over Baltimore this year was something that shouldn't have happened, but did.

"Baltimore has a great team," he said. "But we want to show those people they're wrong."

The Colts are favored by six points.

Baltimore Coach Don Shula, who will bring his Western Conference champions to Municipal Stadium for the title game, said about the Browns' victory.

"They didn't beat us by any fluke."

The Browns have a 5-4 edge over Baltimore in all games played since 1950, including exhibitions. Cleveland has a 3-2 advantage in regular season play with Baltimore holding a 2-1 exhibition lead.

The two clubs met once for the NFL title, in 1964, and Cleveland won that one 27-0.

Browns' quarterback Bill Nelsen said he watched the Baltimore-Minnesota game on television last Sunday and was impressed with the Colts' defense in the 24-14 victory.

"We must run more against them than the Vikings did," Nelsen said. "If we work at things as we have been we can get the job done, particularly if the coaches come up with a game plan as they did for Dallas."

Cleveland won that one last Saturday 31-20 to take the Eastern Conference title.

"I can say I won't run as much as Joe Kapp did," Nelsen said, referring to the 52 yards gained by the Minnesota quarterback who kept running from Baltimore defenders.

Green said a big incentive for both clubs will be the trip to the Super Bowl and the possible $25,000 per man payoff for taking the NFL title and the game in Miami against the American Football League champ.

Racing Commission Rules

Dancer's Image Gets Win, But Fuller Gets No Money

By LARRY ELDRIDGE
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — Hanging on Peter Fuller's office wall is a picture of Dancer's Image in which the winner of the controversial 1968 Kentucky Derby appears to be smiling quizzically.

"See that look?" the Boston sportsman said to newsmen Monday after a ruling that the colt had indeed won the Derby but could not share in the purse because an illegal pain-killer was found in his system.

"You can tell he's asking: 'Are you kidding, Pete?' "

The wealthy auto dealer indicated strongly that he wanted to continue his battle to clear the colt's record.

"Concerning my further appeal, I will confer with my attorneys . . ." Fuller said. "Still, in all candor, I must remind you that Dancer's Image ran the last quarter on May 4 at Churchill Downs with all his ability and heart to finsh the course—can I as his owner and friend do less?

Fuller's comments came at a news conference called after an announcement by the Kentucky Racing Commission that it was upholding Churchill Downs stewards, who ordered the Derby's purse money redistributed after a chemist said he found an illegal drug in a post-race urinalysis.

The commission's announcement in Lexington, Ky., came after 14 days of testimony on Fuller's appeal of the ruling. Chairman George Egger said the commission concluded that Dancer's Image had phenylbutazone and-or a derivative of it in its urine during the Derby race.

However the commission clarified one point of confusion, by noting that under racing rules the colt loses the purse but retains the victory. This was a change from the original statement by Churchill Downs President Wathen Knebelkamp in May that Dancer's Image had been disqualified and placed last.

Fuller, who has retired Dancer's Image to stud and is syndicating the son of Native Dancer for $2 million, indicated that this clarification was important —"I'm selling this horse as a classic winner"—but that he didn't consider it any special favor.

"I must comment at the risk of seemng ungrateful that we have already earned this honor, which was improperly cast in doubt by Mr. Knebelkamp's post-Derby statement . . ." he said.

"Thus the commission has given us nothing we did not already have when Dancer's Image crossed the finish line first by a length and a half."

Kenneth Smith, chemist for Churchill Downs, revealed three days after America's most famous race that his tests showed the presence of phenylbutazone in the winner's system.

The drug is a medication often used to ease swelling and pain in horses, but like most states, Kentuck provides that it may not be present in a horse's system at race time.

After hearings the track stewards redistributed the purse-giving the $122,600 first place money to second finisher, Calumet Farms' Forward Pass.

New Orleans Wins In Last 2 Seconds

By The Associated Press

When the longest two seconds in pro basketball history were over Monday night, the New Orleans Bucs had beaten the Houston Mavericks 107-106 in an American Basketball Association game.

It took about five minutes to play those final two seconds after Red Robbins' jump shot had put the Bucs on top. The clock, for some unexplained reason, stopped and when it was noticed, both teams, Coaches Babe McCarthy of New Orleans and Jim Weaver of Houston, and a number of fans rushed the timekeeper.

When the rhubarb was settled, the referees gave Houston possession with one second. But the attempt at a court-length pass in struck the loudspeaker and New Orleans regained the ball. That meant the Bucs had scored, lost possession and regained possession of the basketball, all in two seconds.

In other ABA action, Miami dropped Indiana 118-109. In the only National Basketball Association game played, San Francisco whipped San Diego 125-95.

Willie Somerset, who led Houston with 29 points, had given the Mavericks a one-point edge with nine seconds remaining before the hectic finish. Jimmy Jones topped New Orleans with 27.

After the game, Weaver, Houston's coach, rushed over to the scorer's table, apparently to protest. But he loudy insisted: "I'm not complaining. I'm not complaining." McCarthy, New Orleans' coach, would only say: "I'm not pointing an accusing finger at anyone."

Willie Murrell poured in 32 points, doubling his 15-point per game average, and leading Miami past Indiana. Murrell hit 13 of his 20 shots from the field. Skip Thoren contributed 20 points and some strong rebounding for the Floridians.

Mel Daniels, recovering from a touch of flu, a bad eye and a broken nose, led the Pacers with 28.

San Francisco limited Elvin Hayes, the NBA's leading scorer, to 15 points in defeating San Diego. Hayes, boasting a 30.5 average, was double and triple-teamed as the Warriors held the Rockets' high-scoring front courtmen to only 39 points. Their lowest point-production of the season.

The Warriors, still without injured Nate Thurmond and Clyde Lee, dominated the backboards as Rudy LaRusso, Dale Schlueter and Jeff Mullins bottled up Hayes.

San Francisco, ahead 53-44, at halftime, went on a 19-5 spree in the third period and opened a commanding 72-49 bulge.

LaRusso spearheaded the Warrior attack with 30 points and Don Kojis was high for San Diego with 18.

Richmond Quarterback Eligible

KANSAS CITY (AP) — University of Richmond quarterback Buster O'Brien was ruled eligible Monday for postseason football competition by the eligibility committee of the National College Athletic Association.

O'Brien appealed a ruling that would have kept him from playing in the Tangerine Bowl football game against Ohio University Friday night.

Earlier, the NCAA had ruled O'Brien ineligible for the game in Orlando, Fla. The ruling noted O'Brien had received his bachelor's degree last June at Richmond.

The appeal was on the grounds that an NCAA provision granted an additional year of competition by his conference on grounds of hardship is also eligible for postseason events.

Personalities In The News

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Jesus H. Guevara, who lost the vision in both eyes, his left arm below the elbow and part of his right hand after a grenade exploded near him in Vietnam, became a U.S. citizen Monday.

"Maybe it was a high price to pay," the 21-year-old native of Mexico said, "but I believe I have earned my U.S. citizenship. I have fought for America alongside Americans, and I think any American would agree that I am deserving of the same rights just as if I had been born here."

Guevara was brought in an ambulance from Brooke Army Medical Center to the federal building for the citizenship ceremony.

"I have been waiting 13 years for this day," he said after U.S. District Judge Adrian A. Spears administered the oath of allegiance.

Guevara lived in the United States for 12 years before entering the Army.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Comedian Joey Bishop, suffering from exhaustion and the flu, was ordered to bed by his doctor Monday. The American Broadcasting Co. ordered reruns on television of his late-night show.

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Actor Dan Dailey, 53, and dancer Carol F. Warner, 33, obtained a marriage license Monday. No date for the wedding was disclosed.

It will be her fourth marriage and the third for Dailey, who was divorced from his second wife in 1952.

KNOTTINGLY, England (AP) — Arthur Armitage, officially recognized as the fattest man in Britain, says he got up to 525 pounds on tea and toast.

"I've never been a big eater. It's a mystery to me why I have put on so much weight," he said. But he admitted: "We all eat a bit more over Christmas, don't we?"

Armitage, a 39-year-old betting shop employe, says he spends most of his money on clothes, which have to be specially made.

Devil's Hole State Park, N.Y., the smallest on the Niagara frontier, was the scene of a massacre of British wagon trains in 1763.

U.S., National Steel Cut Planned Boosts

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Two major United States steel producers have followed the lead of Bethlehem Steel and cut planned price hikes on hot rolled carbon and high strength sheet steel by $8 a ton.

U. S. Steel and National Steel said Monday they have revised the price on the items from $125 to $117 a ton, effective Jan. 1.

National Steel said its reduction was made to stay "competitive with those of other domestic producers," and U. S. Steel said "any price adjustment strictly reflects the workings of the market." Both firms declined to say whether they were following the pattern set by Bethlehem.

OSU Band To March In Nixon Inaugural

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State University's marching band will follow up its Rose Bowl appearance next month by representing Ohio in President - elect Nixon's inaugural parade.

Each state is allowed one band in the Jan. 20 parade, and an Ohio inaugural committee made the selection of the 120-man all-brass band. It will be the band's first appearance at a non - athletic event outside Ohio in 35 years.

State Republican Chairman John S. Andrews said the band's trip to Washington for the parade will be paid for by private contributions.

Teachers, Employes Get Hike In Defiance

DEFIANCE, Ohio (AP)—The Central Local School District Board of Education in Defiance County voted Monday to give an across-the-board $700 raise to teachers and other employes.

The board voted for the increases in spite of voter rejection of the last two school operating levies.

Youths From Well-To-Do Families, Too

Expectant Mothers Seen Afflicted By Malnutrition

WASHINGTON (AP) — Malnutrition afflicts not just the poor but expectant mothers and teenagers from well-to-do families as well, preliminary government study findings indicate.

Some teenagers, even those from middle-class families, simply don't eat the right foods or go on starvation binges to reduce, according to Dr. Arnold E. Schaefer who is conducting the study for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

He said lack of proper nutrition among expectant mothers and their offspring is one of the most serious problems discovered yet by the study, which is at least a year away from final publication.

The study, to be based on physical examinations of up to 65,000 people, should "cut out all this criticism" from Congress that the malnutrition problem in America has not been documented, Schaefer said.

The study's first phase—costing $1.5 million—is gathering results from examinations of about 30,000 people.

Findings from Texas and parts of Louisiana, New York and Kentucky are being fed into a computer and the first tabulated results are expected early next month, Schaefer said.

If another $2 million can be wrung from HEW's budget, Schaefer said, another 35,000 people are to be examined beginning early next year in West Virginia, Massachusetts, California, Washington, South Carolina and New York City.

The study will document malnutrition, not hunger, Schaefer said.

"You can't really determine hunger," he said. "Everybody's hungry three times a day or so."

Malnutrition is especially severe among teenage and poor mothers, some of whom are illiterate and don't know about government food programs available to them, Schaefer said.

He said teenagers often refuse to eat enough of the right foods, such as leafy vegetables or fruit juices, and "if they refuse to drink milk, then you've got real trouble."

The study also is turning up considerable iron deficiency anemia and some cases of goiter "which we were supposed to have eradicated 30 years ago," Schaefer said. He said the goiter problem could be eliminatd if all states required salt to be iodized.

Congressional criticism that the problem has not been documented developed after a report titled "Hunger U.S.A.," claiming widespread hunger and malnutrition in the country, was published last April by a group called The Citizens Board of Inquiry.

The Poor People Campaign in Washington at about the same time was claiming existence of widespread hunger in the country.

Schaefer suggested both events gave support to solving the problem.

A former Department of Agriculture employe, Schaefer has been studying malnutrition for years. And until last April, he said, "nobody paid much attention to us."

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Jesus H. Guevara, who lost the vision in both eyes, his left arm below the elbow and part of his right hand after a grenade exploded near him in Vietnam, became a U.S. citizen Monday.

"Maybe it was a high price to pay," the 21-year-old native of Mexico said, "but I believe I have earned my U.S. citizenship. I have fought for America alongside Americans, and I think any American would agree that I am deserving of the same rights just as if I had been born here."

Guevara was brought in an ambulance from Brooke Army Medical Center to the federal building for the citizenship ceremony.

"I have been waiting 13 years for this day," he said after U.S. District Judge Adrian A. Spears administered the oath of allegiance.

Guevara lived in the United States for 12 years before entering the Army.

U.S., National Steel Cut Planned Boosts

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Two major United States steel producers have followed the lead of Bethlehem Steel and cut planned price hikes on hot rolled carbon and high strength sheet steel by $8 a ton.

U. S. Steel and National Steel said Monday they have revised the price on the items from $125 to $117 a ton, effective Jan. 1.

National Steel said its reduction was made to stay "competitive with those of other domestic producers," and U. S. Steel said "any price adjustment strictly reflects the workings of the market." Both firms declined to say whether they were following the pattern set by Bethlehem.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State University's marching band will follow up its Rose Bowl appearance next month by representing Ohio in President - elect Nixon's inaugural parade.

State Republican Chairman John S. Andrews said the band's trip to Washington for the parade will be paid for by private contributions.

Youths From Well-To-Do Families, Too

Expectant Mothers Seen Afflicted By Malnutrition

WASHINGTON (AP) — Malnutrition afflicts not just the poor but expectant mothers and teenagers from well-to-do families as well, preliminary government study findings indicate.

Some teenagers, even those from middle-class families, simply don't eat the right foods or go on starvation binges to reduce, according to Dr. Arnold E. Schaefer who is conducting the study for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

He said lack of proper nutrition among expectant mothers and their offspring is one of the most serious problems discovered yet by the study, which is at least a year away from final publication.

The study, to be based on physical examinations of up to 65,000 people, should "cut out all this criticism" from Congress that the malnutrition problem in America has not been documented, Schaefer said.

The study's first phase—costing $1.5 million—is gathering results from examinations of about 30,000 people.

Findings from Texas and parts of Louisiana, New York and Kentucky are being fed into a computer and the first tabulated results are expected early next month, Schaefer said.

If another $2 million can be wrung from HEW's budget, Schaefer said, another 35,000 people are to be examined beginning early next year in West Virginia, Massachusetts, California, Washington, South Carolina and New York City.

The study will document malnutrition, not hunger, Schaefer said.

"You can't really determine hunger," he said. "Everybody's hungry three times a day or so."

Malnutrition is especially severe among teenage and poor mothers, some of whom are illiterate and don't know about government food programs available to them, Schaefer said.

He said teenagers often refuse to eat enough of the right foods, such as leafy vegetables or fruit juices, and "if they refuse to drink milk, then you've got real trouble."

The study also is turning up considerable iron deficiency anemia and some cases of goiter "which we were supposed to have eradicated 30 years ago," Schaefer said. He said the goiter problem could be eliminatd if all states required salt to be iodized.

Congressional criticism that the problem has not been documented developed after a report titled "Hunger U.S.A.," claiming widespread hunger and malnutrition in the country, was published last April by a group called The Citizens Board of Inquiry.

The Poor People Campaign in Washington at about the same time was claiming existence of widespread hunger in the country.

Schaefer suggested both events gave support to solving the problem.

A former Department of Agriculture employe, Schaefer has been studying malnutrition for years. And until last April, he said, "nobody paid much attention to us."

2 IN MEMORIAM

REMEMBERING our Dear beloved husband and father, Benjamin F. Timmons at Christmas. Your gentle face and patient smile. With sadness we recall. You had a kindly word for each, and died beloved by all. The voice is mute and stilled the heart. That loved us well and true. Ah, bitter was the trial to part, From one so good as you. You are not forgotten loved one, Nor will you ever be. As long as life and memory last, We will remember thee. We miss you now, our hearts are sore, As time goes by, We miss you more. Your loving smile, your gentle face. No one can fill your vacant place. — Sadly missed by wife, children and grandchildren.

In loving remembrance of James Adkins Jr.
If we had all the world to give,
we'd give it, yes and more.
To hear his voice and see his smile, and greet him at the door.
But all we can do dear daddy,
is to go and tend your grave.
And leave behind tokens of love,
to the best one God ever gave.
I've lost my soul's companion,
a life linked with my own.
And day by day I miss you more,
as I walk through life alone.
Wife Pauline
Children, Sandra, James and Ricky

In memory of our beloved son and brother BILL who passed away 13 years ago, December 24th. Sadly missed by mother, dad, and sister. — Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lonas, Carolyn Wray.

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE

Pursuant to the provisions of the Local Tax Enabling Act of 1965, being Act No. 511 of 1965, notice is hereby given that it is the intention of the Board of Supervisors of Greene Township, Beaver County, Pennsylvania, to adopt an Ordinance imposing a tax of one (1%) percent on the transfer of real property within the geographical limits of said Township. The adoption of the aforementioned tax will be considered at a meeting of the Board of Supervisors on January 6, 1969, at 8:00 P.M., Eastern Standard Time, at the home of the Secretary.

SECTION IX. The tax collector shall keep a record of all collections of taxes showing the parties to the transfer for which the tax was paid.

SECTION X. The tax collector shall have the right to bring a suit before any Justice of the Peace, or the Court of Common Pleas of Beaver County, Pennsylvania, to enforce the collection of any tax due under the terms of this ordinance.

SECTION XI. Any person violating this ordinance or any portion thereof shall be subject to a fine of not more than $200.00 Dollars for each offense, and in default of payment, shall be subject to imprisonment in the Beaver County Jail for not more than 30 days.

SECTION XII. The provisions of this ordinance are severable and if any section, clause, sentence, part or provision thereof shall be held illegal, invalid or unconstitutional, the decision of the Court shall not affect or impair any of the remaining sections, clauses, sentences, parts or provisions of this ordinance. It is hereby declared to be the intent of the Board of Supervisors of the Township of Greene that this ordinance would have been adopted if such illegal, invalid or unconstitutional section, clause, sentence, part or provision had not been included herein.

SECTION XIII. The effective date of this Ordinance shall be thirty (30) days from the date of enactment thereof.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

2 IN MEMORIAM

REMEMBERING our Dear beloved husband and father, Benjamin F. Timmons at Christmas. Your gentle face and patient smile. With sadness we recall. You had a kindly word for each, and died beloved by all. The voice is mute and stilled the heart. That loved us well and true. Ah, bitter was the trial to part, From one so good as you. You are not forgotten loved one, Nor will you ever be. As long as life and memory last, We will remember thee. We miss you now, our hearts are sore, As time goes by, We miss you more. Your loving smile, your gentle face. No one can fill your vacant place. — Sadly missed by wife, children and grandchildren.

In loving remembrance of James Adkins Jr.
If we had all the world to give,
we'd give it, yes and more.
To hear his voice and see his smile, and greet him at the door.
But all we can do dear daddy,
is to go and tend your grave
And leave behind tokens of love,
to the best one God ever gave.
I've lost my soul's companion,
a life linked with my own.
And day by day I miss you more,
as I walk through life alone.
Wife Pauline
Children, Sandra, James and Ricky

In memory of our beloved son and brother BILL who passed away 13 years ago, December 24th. Sadly missed by mother, dad, and sister. — Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lonas, Carolyn Wray.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Tuesday, Dec. 24, the 359th day of 1968. There are seven days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1814, the United States and England signed the Treaty of Ghent in Belgium, ending the war of 1812.

In 1524, the Portuguese navigator who discovered the sea route to India, Vasco da Gama, died.

In 1650, Edinburgh castle in Scotland surrendered to the forces of Oliver Cromwell.

In 1865, a secret order called the Ku Klux Klan was organized in Pulaski, Tenn.

In 1942, during World War II, the French administrator of North Africa, Admiral Jean Darlan, was assassinated in Algiers.

In 1943, in a Christmas eve broadcast, President Franklin D. Roosevelt announced that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower would command allied forces in the coming invasion of Europe.

In 1949, a new Christmas song had swept the country. It was the sprightly "Rudolph, the Red-Nosed Reindeer."

Ten years ago — The United States showed no interest in a Soviet suggestion for a conference on European security that would exclude the question of German unity.

Junior Editors Quiz on SCULPTURE

QUESTION: Why is it that ancient sculptors didn't carve the arms?

ANSWER: It is true that some ancient sculptured figures such as one sees in museums (lower right) have one or both arms missing. We must remember that statues of this kind were made many years ago. Greek statues of the great period of the 400's B.C., for example, are over 2000 years old. In 2000 years, a great many things are liable to happen. King fought against king, nation against nation. Many of the beautiful temples where the statues were preserved were damaged in such wars (upper right). An example is the famous Parthenon in Athens, built in 447 B.C. It stood intact for 2000 years, and then was very badly damaged in a war between the Venetians and Turks. When a marble statue falls down during such destruction, the arms, which are usually held outward in some way, are naturally liable to snap off. If the missing arm is found, later restorers will probably put it back in place. But many such arms were lost. Yet the beauty of these ancient works of art is so great that we can enjoy them just as they are.

Junior Editors Quiz on KOALA 'BEAR'

QUESTION: How does a koala bear differ from other bears?

ANSWER: Bears belong to the order of mammals called carnivores, which live by preying on other animals. Because of this, most carnivores are wild and fierce. You can realize this by looking at the expression of the mother grizzly bear in our picture. Of course, she's trying to scare us away from her cub, but grizzlies are powerful and dangerous animals just the same. The gentle little koala, shown against the map of Australia where it lives, is an entirely different kind of animal, since it is not a bear and does not belong to the carnivore group. It is a marsupial, meaning that it carries its young around in a pouch — at least, at first. Later, the little koala will climb up and enjoy riding around on its mother's back. The koala's food consists of leaves and roots, mostly those of the eucalyptus tree. They are small animals, about 24 inches long, another point of difference with the true bears, who are large; some, like the grizzly and Alaskan brown bear, are huge. If a koala resembles a bear, it is only that soft little toy, the teddy bear.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—How can I prevent that ugly - looking ring after spot-cleaning a fabric?

A.—By "feathering out" your cleaning process. Whether you wet - clean or dry - clean, the outer edge of the saturated area must be allowed to dry gradually toward the center, to forestall the development of that telltale ring. A hand blower or hair-dryer is helpful in drying the outer edge before the ring forms.

Q.—How can I deal with candy stains on fabrics?

A.—Almost all candy stains, except chocolate, are removable with hot water. In the case of chocolate, cleaning fluid is a better bet. . .or peroxide, if the fabric is white.

Q.—How can I avoid splitting unseasoned wood while driving nails into it?

A.—You'll minimize the danger of splitting this wood if you'll blunt the points of your nails beforehand against an old wrench or other flat surface.

Q. — What is a good emergency repair for a hole in a man's trousers pocket?

A. — Turn the pocket inside out, and cover the hole with adhesive tape.

Santa's On Way To U.S. Homes

A scrapbook favorite in many homes is the following column Hal Boyle wrote in 1949 for parents to read aloud to their children on Christmas Eve. This year, as every year, a number of newspapers and readers ask that it be presented again.

By HAL BOYLE

NORTH POLE, (AP) — He's off!

Santa Claus is on his way at last!

The jolly old Saint and his famous reindeer are zooming through the Arctic skies right now, heading for the American border. He'll reach it tonight.

The Northern Lights switched on to a clear steady green—the "go ahead" signal. And the Royal Canadian Mounted Police sent Santa this message:

"We are clearing all air lanes in your path, old boy. There is no speed limit for you tonight. The sky is yours. Go as fast as you like. Good luck!"

And Santa Claus needed that wide, clear road in the sky. For his big red sled was packed so full of gifts it overflowed. It looked like a hay rick zooming through the crisp air.

"Oh dear, oh dear," worried Santa, just before the takeoff. "I do hope none of these presents falls out and beans some poor innocent rabbit down below. This must be the heaviest load I've had in twenty years."

"What is he fretting about?" whispered Donder to Vixen. "He's only riding that sled. We have to pull it."

Vixen laughed so hard the bells on her harness tinkled in merry music. And all the other reindeer laughed, too.

As Santa Claus climbed up into the seat of the sled, puffing a little because he had gained some weight this winter, three black and white penguins waddled across the snow in front of the reindeer.

"Here, here, get out of the way, please," said Santa Claus importantly. Then he said, surprised:

"Why, what are you penguins doing up at the North Pole anyway? You're supposed to be at the South Pole."

"We're on a vacation," said one of the penguins. "We're looking for Florida. Have you seen it anywhere?"

"Climb aboard, climb aboard," boomed Santa. "I'll drop you off there. But I must say this is the first time I ever picked up three hitchhikers wearing tuxedoes."

Just then Mrs. Santa Claus came running out waving a long piece of paper.

"You almost forgot your list of good children," she said.

"Never mind," said Santa, "I don't need it. This year I am going to give a present to every little boy and girl, good or bad. The bad ones will feel sorry then, because they know they don't deserve a nice present. I'll make 'em try harder to be good next year."

"That isn't according to Hoyle," said Mrs. Claus, who likes to play bridge. "But it does make sense, you old softie."

Santa stood up to crack his whip in the air—the signal to be off. But then he heard a small voice crying:

"Wait, please wait."

It was Cluny, Santa's favorite little elf. The other elves gossiped about Cluny and said she was clumsy at making toys. But Santa knew it was only because she was so young. He liked her because she had a good heart.

"Here," said the tiny elf, holding up a small shiny figure.

"What's this? What's this?" grumbled Santa. "You're too late. My pack is already loaded."

"It is only my present to the world," said Cluny. "I made it at night in my room—all by myself."

Santa took the little figure from her hands. It was a beautiful angel with butterfly wings and a robe of purest white. In her hand the angel held a small magic wand.

"It is the angel of peace," explained Cluny.

"Why, Cluny!" said Santa, "this is better than all the other gifts put together. I'll see that your angel waves her wand for one day at least over every home in the land."

And he picked up Cluny and gave her a big whisker-tickly kiss on her cheek. Then he picked up his long whip again and cracked it sharply in the frosty air.

The eight reindeer leaped forward and the big sled began sliding through the snow. Faster, faster, faster, faster—and then they were off the ground and into the air.

Bookmobile To Tonga

HONOLULU (AP) — Hawaii's state librarian, James Hunt, says a bookmobile will be sent to Tonga in the South Pacific. Hunt says Hawaii Gov. John A. Burns has asked that a bookmobile be sent to the independent kingdom some 3,000 miles southwest of Honolulu. One now in use in Honolulu will be sent to Tonga in about six months, when new bookmobiles for Hawaii arrive.

Chester Kiwanis Told Of Yule In Other Countries

Al Finemar discused the background of Christmas and how it is observed in other countries when the Chester Kiwanis Club met Monday night.

Plans were made for the installation and "Ladies Night" dinner Jan. 14 at 6:10 p. m. in the Chester Christian Church. Lt. Gov. Guy Knapp will officiate.

President Robert Cooley presided last night, Lloyd Mansfield led singing and Denver Carder gave the invocation.

Seventeen attended, including William Harper, who returned after a leave of absence for post-graduate work in the field of education.

Cooley said there still are a few fruitcakes available at Werkheiser's Hardware in the club's fund project.

Families Anxiously Wait Arrival Of Pueblo Crew

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Wives and children, mothers and fathers, brothers and sisters are here for a Christmas Eve reunion with the 82 surviving crewmen of the USS Pueblo.

The families have been flown at Navy expense to meet the men released Sunday after 11 months as captives of North Korea.

The first of two giant jets carrying the crew was to set down at Miramar Naval Air Station at 6 p.m. EST.

First on the agenda were brief, public reunions between crewmen and their loved ones. Next were a Navy-arranged news conference, and intelligence debriefing and medical checkups at the San Diego Naval Hospital.

The debriefing and medical checks will last an indefinite period of time. Before they start, however, families will have an hour in private at the hospital.

The Navy readied a comfortable temporary home at the "Pink Palace," a plain four-story hospital corpsmen's school building in a quiet corner of the grounds. Out of the school dormitory went double-bunked beds. In went single beds, carpets, writing desk and overhead lighting.

That was one part of Operation Breeches Buoy, the Navy's code name for plans developed months ago. The plan was named for the device that carries people from one ship to another at sea.

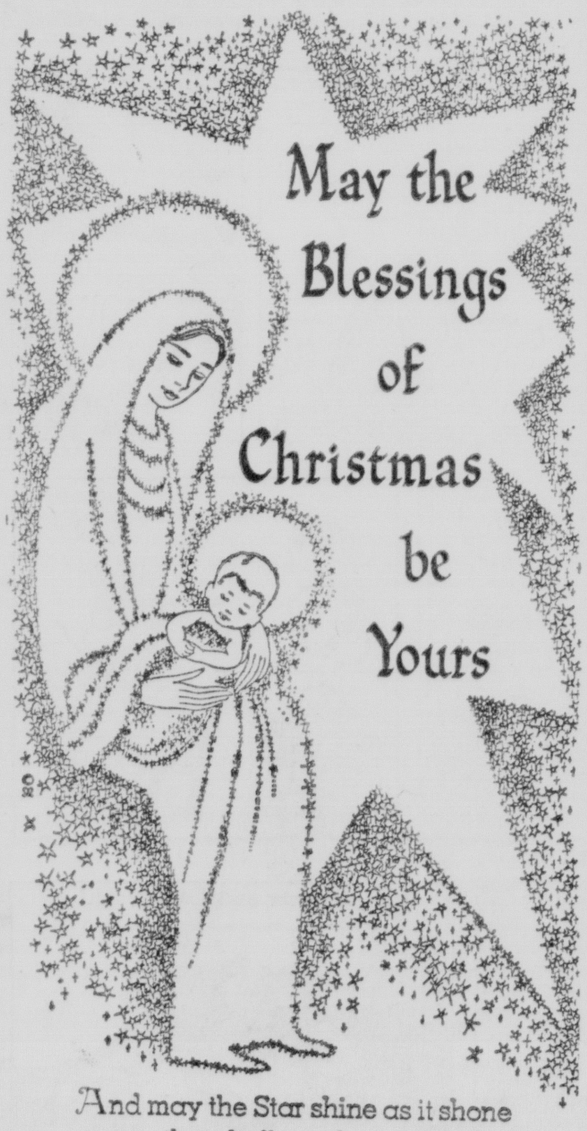
While Marine security guards assembled outside, the Navy went to work in the adjacent building, a gathering place for the hospital staff called the RX Club. In the spacious, carpeted, wood-panelled building, gaily decorated for the holidays, the crew will eat, relax and watch television with their families.

"A man will be able to visit his family whenver he's not tied up with debriefings or physicals," a Navy spokesman explained.

The Navy said the crew could be at the hospital from two weeks to two months and whether any could leave the hospital for Christmas along with their families would depend on their physical condition.

Families began arriving Monday morning at the municipal airport. The Navy said it paid $25,475 for tickets for the first 43 families and said it knew of 167 dependents who plan to come. But, a spokesman noted, that dozens of others might come on their own, and would be taken care of also.

Most arriving relatives had little time to buy Christmas presents. One wife said she had bought what her husband once asked for, a special-type bar of soap.



And may the Star shine as it shone upon that hallowed night when the Holy Child was born... with eternal light . . . forever bringing joy, love and peace into your home.

Santa's On Way To U.S. Homes

A scrapbook favorite in many homes is the following column Hal Boyle wrote in 1949 for parents to read aloud to their children on Christmas Eve. This year, as every year, a number of newspapers and readers ask that it be presented again.

By HAL BOYLE

NORTH POLE, (AP) — He's off!

Santa Claus is on his way at last!

The jolly old Saint and his famous reindeer are zooming through the Arctic skies right now, heading for the American border. He'll reach it tonight.

The Northern Lights switched on to a clear steady green—the "go ahead" signal. And the Royal Canadian Mounted Police sent Santa this message:

"We are clearing all air lanes in your path, old boy. There is no speed limit for you tonight. The sky is yours. Go as fast as you like. Good luck!"

And Santa Claus needed that wide, clear road in the sky. For his big red sled was packed so full of gifts it overflowed. It looked like a hay rick zooming through the crisp air.

"Oh dear, oh dear," worried Santa, just before the takeoff. "I do hope none of these presents falls out and beans some poor innocent rabbit down below. This must be the heaviest load I've had in twenty years."

"What is he fretting about?" whispered Donder to Vixen. "He's only riding that sled. We have to pull it."

Vixen laughed so hard the bells on her harness tinkled in merry music. And all the other reindeer laughed, too.

As Santa Claus climbed up into the seat of the sled, puffing a little because he had gained some weight this winter, three black and white penguins waddled across the snow in front of the reindeer.

"Here, here, get out of the way, please," said Santa Claus importantly. Then he said, surprised:

"Why, what are you penguins doing up at the North Pole anyway? You're supposed to be at the South Pole."

"We're on a vacation," said one of the penguins. "We're looking for Florida. Have you seen it anywhere?"

"Climb aboard, climb aboard," boomed Santa. "I'll drop you off there. But I must say this is the first time I ever picked up three hitchhikers wearing tuxedoes."

Just then Mrs. Santa Claus came running out waving a long piece of paper.

"You almost forgot your list of good children," she said.

"Never mind," said Santa, "I don't need it. This year I am going to give a present to every little boy and girl, good or bad. The bad ones will feel sorry then, because they know they don't deserve a nice present. I'll make 'em try harder to be good next year."

"That isn't according to Hoyle," said Mrs. Claus, who likes to play bridge. "But it does make sense, you old softie."

Santa stood up to crack his whip in the air—the signal to be off. But then he heard a small voice crying:

"Wait, please wait."

It was Cluny, Santa's favorite little elf. The other elves gossiped about Cluny and said she was clumsy at making toys. But Santa knew it was only because she was so young. He liked her because she had a good heart.

"Here," said the tiny elf, holding up a small shiny figure.

"What's this? What's this?" grumbled Santa. "You're too late. My pack is already loaded."

"It is only my present to the world," said Cluny. "I made it at night in my room—all by myself."

Santa took the little figure from her hands. It was a beautiful angel with butterfly wings and a robe of purest white. In her hand the angel held a small magic wand.

"It is the angel of peace," explained Cluny.

"Why, Cluny!" said Santa, "this is better than all the other gifts put together. I'll see that your angel waves her wand for one day at least over every home in the land."

And he picked up Cluny and gave her a big whisker-tickly kiss on her cheek. Then he picked up his long whip again and cracked it sharply in the frosty air.

The eight reindeer leaped forward and the big sled began sliding through the snow. Faster, faster, faster, faster—and then they were off the ground and into the air.

Bookmobile To Tonga

HONOLULU (AP) — Hawaii's state librarian, James Hunt, says a bookmobile will be sent to Tonga in the South Pacific. Hunt says Hawaii Gov. John A. Burns has asked that a bookmobile be sent to the independent kingdom some 3,000 miles southwest of Honolulu. One now in use in Honolulu will be sent to Tonga in about six months, when new bookmobiles for Hawaii arrive.

Chester Kiwanis Told Of Yule In Other Countries

Al Finemar discused the background of Christmas and how it is observed in other countries when the Chester Kiwanis Club met Monday night.

Plans were made for the installation and "Ladies Night" dinner Jan. 14 at 6:10 p. m. in the Chester Christian Church. Lt. Gov. Guy Knapp will officiate.

President Robert Cooley presided last night, Lloyd Mansfield led singing and Denver Carder gave the invocation.

Seventeen attended, including William Harper, who returned after a leave of absence for post-graduate work in the field of education.

Cooley said there still are a few fruitcakes available at Werkheiser's Hardware in the club's fund project.

Families Anxiously Wait Arrival Of Pueblo Crew

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Wives and children, mothers and fathers, brothers and sisters are here for a Christmas Eve reunion with the 82 surviving crewmen of the USS Pueblo.

The families have been flown at Navy expense to meet the men released Sunday after 11 months as captives of North Korea.

The first of two giant jets carrying the crew was to set down at Miramar Naval Air Station at 6 p.m. EST.

First on the agenda were brief, public reunions between crewmen and their loved ones. Next were a Navy-arranged news conference, and intelligence debriefing and medical checkups at the San Diego Naval Hospital.

The debriefing and medical checks will last an indefinite period of time. Before they start, however, families will have an hour in private at the hospital.
